

16 VICTIMS BURIED AT SEA SHIP WITH BODIES

Of 189 Victims of Titanic Disaster Due at Halifax Monday

HALIFAX, N. S., April 27.—The cableship Mackay-Bennett, bearing the bodies of the Titanic victims which have been recovered, will not arrive here until Monday. This was confirmed this morning in a wireless message received from the steamer. It was signed simply "Mackay-Bennett" and was as follows:

"Confirm bodies of Astor and Straus on board. Due Monday with 189 bodies."

As 205 bodies have been picked up, it is assumed that 16 were so mutilated that burial at sea was necessary.

MODEL TENEMENT LAW

Planned by Mass. Civic League and Local Board of Trade

The Lowell board of trade was represented yesterday at a meeting in Boston held for the purpose of discussing and formulating a model tenement house act, which will be presented to the legislature for the purpose of providing a model law for cities and towns of the state.

The work was taken up at the initiative of the Massachusetts Civic League of which Secretary John H. Murphy of the local board is a member. The league aims to promote the health and fullest life of Massachusetts citizens by the study, framing, and systematic agitation of measures for social improvement.

The Lowell board of trade through its committee on public health last year perfected a set of rules and regulations concerning the housing problem and was also interested in securing the passage of the bill before the legislature known as the enabling act which gives cities and towns the right to accept such rules as ordinances. A committee representing the board was present at the legislative hearings and the bill was signed by the governor, March 26th of this year.

At the meeting yesterday in Boston there were representatives from most of the large cities and a general discussion was held upon the matter of house bill No. 2165 now being considered by the legislature which is an act relative to tenement houses in towns, and also a general discussion upon the model tenement house law as proposed by Lawrence Vellor of the Russell Sage foundation of New York.

The state committee which is engaged in drafting this model law for towns and cities will conduct an extensive educational campaign, will meet social workers for conference, will support important legislative changes in present building laws and will make a study of homes of moderate cost and in other ways carry forward a general housing campaign. The committee will confer with local and state health departments and co-operate with other municipal and state departments for improved methods.

To Prevent Moonlight Flits
The municipal committee of the board of trade is preparing an ordinance by which parties intending to move from one tenement to another will have to get a permit from the city clerk. The object is to prevent the hasty flits by which some families manage to evade the payment of rent and thus cheat their landlords.

HILAIRE DOZOIS

Well Known Resident Passed Away Today

Hilaire Dozois, one of the best known residents of this city, died this morning at his late home, 312 Moody street, from the effects of a shock which he received a few days ago. Deceased was 87 years, 3 months and 15 days of age and was at one time an overseer at the Lowell Machine shop.

Hilaire Dozois was born in Canada and when a boy removed to this city. He was a pioneer of St. Joseph's parish and has always worked for the interest of the said parish. For many years he was overseer at the Lowell Machine shop. A few years ago he severed this connection with the said shop and retired, taking care of his real estate. He was a member of the Union St. Joseph and La Societe St. Jean Baptiste, and has been prominent in all the French movements of this city, being instrumental in bringing about the celebration of St. John's day some years ago when the mills were closed for the occasion.

Deceased is survived by his wife, Mrs. Emma, four children, Victor E., George H., and Mrs. T. J. Vigeant of this city and Mrs. A. Guinet of Foxboro, Mass.; a sister, Mrs. Charles Charren of this city; three brothers, Nazaire of Westboro, Telesphore of Manchester, and Alexandre of Lowell, as well as three grandchildren, Victor E. and Jeannette Guinet and Paul Hilaire Vigeant.

HE DIED SUDDENLY

Lucius M. Wright an Old Resident

Lucius M. Wright, one of the oldest residents of this city, died suddenly last night at his home, 15 Oliver street, aged 73 years and 9 days. Deceased was yesterday apparently in the best of health. He went out during the day and last night he retired at his usual hour, but at 11 o'clock he was suddenly taken ill and died in a short time, the cause of death being heart trouble.

The death of Mr. Wright removes a well known character from our midst, one who has lived in this city mostly all his life and who was held in high esteem by all who knew him or came in contact with him. Mr. Wright was of a happy disposition and particularly noted for his knowledge of horses, being a trainer of rare ability. He was the first man to drive a horse car in this city, and later entered the employ of the city as hostler at the city stables, where for many years he fulfilled his duties in a very creditable manner for some years past. However, he has been in the large trading business, and in his career he has handled some of the most valuable horses in Lowell and surrounding towns. His demise will be a hard blow to his many acquaintances and relatives, especially to his wife, Mrs. Mary H. Wright, who has been his life-long companion.

FIRST COMMUNION

Received by Children of St. Michael's

Over one hundred received their first holy communion at the 8 o'clock mass at St. Michael's church this morning. Rev. John Shaw, pastor of the church, celebrated the mass. The girls were all prettily attired in dresses of white and wore veils and wreaths. The boys wore dark suits, with bows of white ribbon tied on their right arms. The children were in charge of the sisters of the school. Holy communion was given by Rev. Denis Murphy and Rev. Francis J. Mullin.

Sacred Heart
At the 7:30 o'clock mass at the Sacred Heart church tomorrow the members of the Children of Mary sodality will receive their regular monthly communion. The monthly edition of the church calendar will be distributed at all the masses tomorrow. The latter has become very important to the parishioners, each month it is published. It includes all the announcements of the month, a list of those who died during that time, a number of well written stories, advice on different subjects and many advertisements.

St. Peter's
The members of Lowell council, K. of C., will receive communion at the 9:15 o'clock mass at St. Peter's church one week from tomorrow. The knights will first meet in Lincoln hall at 9 o'clock. From there they will march to the church where seats in the centre aisle will be reserved. During the mass a special musical program will be given. After mass all will repair to Lincoln hall where a breakfast will be served and an entertainment given. It is expected that a large number will take part as the change of the time in the mass will enable those in other sections of the city to be present. The arrangements are in charge of Rev. W. George Mullin, chaplain and Henry J. Reape, grand knight.

Holy Name Society
The members of the St. Peter's Holy Name society are making arrangements for an entertainment and dancing party to be held in Lincoln hall on Friday evening, May 17.

METAL WORKERS

HELD MEETING THIS MORNING IN CARPENTERS' HALL

The sheet metal workers' union met today in Carpenters hall and appointed a committee of three to secure permanent quarters and a business agent to look after their interests. It was announced at the meeting that the average pay in Boston is $4.20 a day of 8 hours. Lowell, it was said, has the lowest pay of any city of its size in the state.

Several of the men are going to work out of town on Monday. The union refuses to work on any job on which non-union men are employed.

NEW OFFICERS

The regular meeting of the members of Court Blanche de Castille, F. F. A., was held last night at C. M. A. G. hall with a very large attendance. President Maria Cognac occupied the chair and considerable business was transacted among which was the installation of the recently elected officers. The installing officer was Deputy Arthur Lavole, and those who were installed are as follows:

Maria Cognac, chief forester; Mrs. L. Lamontagne, vice chief forester; Ida Fortin, treasurer; Florence Hebert, financial secretary; Marie Louis Julien, recording secretary; Paulina Mansau, guard.

At the conclusion of the ceremony a light luncheon was served and a social time was held.

TAFT AND "TEDDY"

Will Make Lowell Their Battleground Next Monday

President William Howard Taft and Theodore Roosevelt will come to Lowell Monday afternoon and will tell us what they think of one another. The fact that they were coming to Lowell was published in The Sun yesterday but the program was not complete at that time and is yet subject to alterations.

President Taft, according to present arrangements, will reach here from Lawrence at 5:55 o'clock in the afternoon, and will speak from the bandstand on the South common. Should the weather be unfavorable he will speak in the Lowell Opera House. Congressman Ames will preside at the meeting and the president will remain in Lowell until 6:40.

Col. Roosevelt, according to present plans, will come from Lawrence and will arrive at the Middlesex street depot at 12 o'clock, noon. He will remain half an hour or so and the Lowell Roosevelt committee, William N. Osgood, chairman, is planning to give the colonel a big reception. One of the committee said today that a band would be engaged and the colonel will be given a musical welcome. The committee hopes that Mr. Roosevelt will be able to stay long enough to make a speech on the South common, and if this should happen the old South common will be the battleground on Monday.

President Taft has not been heard at length in Lowell since his visit as a guest of the Lowell Board of Trade a few years ago, while Mr. Roosevelt made a short speech at the Middlesex street station a week ago. In view of the fact that the president has gone into the ring after Teddy's hat the scrap is getting good and hot, and what they will have to say will undoubtedly be quite interesting.

TWO LOWELL MEN HONORED

At the closing session of the grand council of the Royal Arcanum in Boston yesterday there were spirited contests for the positions of officers and the work of the Arcanum of Lowell was given singular recognition by choosing two of its best representatives to positions in the Grand Council. Mr. Fred E. Jones, past regent of Highland council, was elected to the position of grand sentry, while Dr. Hugh Walker was chosen grand chaplain. By their selection Lowell now has several capable representatives in the grand council of the Arcanum. The members of Highland council feel honored at the recognition given the council by the state delegates and predict that Grand SENTRY Jones will make a valuable assistant to Grand Chaplain Walker.

Mr. Louis Albert Biron has returned from Canada, where he was called to the bedside of his brother, Rev. Fr. Biron.

A daughter was born last night to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Montmarquet of Gershom avenue.

ANSWER THIS TODAY

Mr. Roosevelt!

You are a candidate for a third term as President.
You are seeking nomination from the Republican National Convention:—

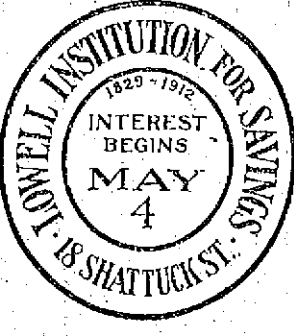

Will you abide by the decision of that convention and support its nominee?

If you are successful in this campaign will you be a candidate for a fourth term? In case this answer is "No," will it have the same meaning as your statement on November 4th, 1904: "Under no circumstances will I again be a candidate"?

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

Enveloped in the atmosphere of success consequent upon its all-season run at the Gaiety theatre in New York, "Excuse Me," the farce by Rupert Hughes, which has proved one of the most successful of the recent productions made by Henry W. Savage, will come to the Opera House today, matinee and night. The play will be performed by a cast which, individually and as an organization is said to distinctly reflect the unusual skill of Mr. Savage in the selection of players best able to extract the greatest possible values from particular parts and situations. The company roster includes the names of many actors who are well known to local playgoers by reason of their previous appearances here, notable among them being James Lackaye, Joseph Xanier, John J. Kennedy, William V. Strunz, Harry J. Lane, Harry Linkey, Gaiety Herbert, Charles Chappelle, William Wright, Leo Cooper, W. D. Fisher, Frederick Howard, Geraldine O'Brien, Blanche Douglas, Frances Williams, Marguerite Rand, Lucille Lennon, Ethel Weir and Soozoum.

As a production "Excuse Me" is a distinct novelty. All of the action takes place during a trip from Chicago to the Pacific coast, and as a result the stage pictures show the interiors of a Pullman sleeper and library car, which instruments of modern journeying have been reproduced with a fidelity that is amazing.

take notice, and he has made a world-wide reputation on plain every day playing cards. The Holdsworths, exponents of banjo melody, will make the southern instrument twang as it is seldom heard in these parts. But it is a juggler and he juggles everything that is juggable and he juggles before the public today. Carter Taylor presents a laughable one act farce entitled: "Camp Rest" and it is a scream.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

"The Temple Players," presenting high-class musical comedy, will be the stellar attraction in next week's bill at the Merrimack Square theatre. This aggregation of entertainers, fifteen in number, gives one of the most delightful musical offerings in present-day vaudeville. Miss Grace Hawthorne, soloist, and Thomas Malcolm, tenor, are the ones on whose shoulders the brunt of the work falls, and they reflect, in their work, the efforts of true artists. The play introduces one of the several pleasant features in connection with the presentation. This company is completing a long and successful engagement on the scenic circuit, including visits at Boston, Cambridge and Malden. For the coming week the bill will be programmed "Scotch Week" and the several numbers to be featured will have a distinct Scottish tinge. For the week of May 6 "Popular Week" will be introduced.

Among the others who will contribute in making the week's run uncommonly successful are Honey Johnson, "The Man in the Gold Shoes," a comedian whose ability is well known in all theatrical centres of the east. He sings, tells stories and talks himself into favor on all occasions.

Prof. Karl and his trained dogs, gives one of the best animal acts in vaudeville. One of his dogs smokes a billiard cue and does many other wonderful tricks.

Grace Livingston, vocalist, will be heard in some of the latest and best illustrated songs and Mr. and Mrs. Danny Mann, presenting "Mandy Hawkins," recognized as one of the most wholesome and sweetest stories of New England life, are sure to share in the liberal recognition which the entire bill will be accorded during the week's engagement. This sketch will be given daily at 2:15, 5:15 and 8:15 o'clock.

The photo-plays for the first three days of the week will introduce some of the brightest and best productions by the leading manufacturers of this and foreign countries.

Sunday's sacred concert, afternoons at 2, evening at 7 and 9 o'clock, will include eight acts of refined vaudeville. The Cosmopolitan Four, members of Donald Brian's "Siren" company, now playing at the Colonial theatre, Boston, will feature the bill. Hear them and be pleased.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

Tonight is the last night of the Hatfield Stock company at the Academy of Music after a run of five solid months. The sketch that is being played by them is entitled "The man who looks like me" and is pleasing large audiences at every performance. Sunday, however, is the big show of the year, for fifty M. T. L. Bachelder girls, who that evening last evening, the big show, in Associate hall have been contracted to repeat that performance at both afternoon and evening sessions. This crew of girls have been training faithfully for a number of weeks under the direction of Mr. William Gilmore, pianist at the Academy, and their show last evening was of sufficient calibre to warrant an anticipation at any theatre in the state. An extra big show for the coming week.

TITANIC DISASTER

CAPTAIN MOORE CALLED

WASHINGTON, April 27.—The committee inquiring into the Titanic disaster decided early today to subpoena for next week P. M. Sammie, chief engineer of the Mount Temple, and Business Agent Bottomley of that company. Operator Bride of the Titanic, who is in a hospital in New York and J. A. Hovey, a wireless operator at Taunton, Mass.

Samuel Goldenberg and several others from New York representing the committee of Titanic survivors, arrived in Washington today.

Chairman Smith said they came to testify as to the whereabouts of Captain Smith of the Titanic and J. Bruce Ismay, managing director of the International Mercantile Marine on Sunday evening before the accident.

Second Office Lightholder of the Titanic was recalled. Senator Smith questioned him as to his knowledge of the crew of the ship. Mr. Lightholder said he knew them all.

"Do you know Louis Klein?" asked the senator.

"No, sir. There was a Klein, a second class barber, on board I knew him personally."

"Did he survive?"

"No, sir."

Louis Klein gave out a statement in Cleveland, Ohio, making sensational charges. He was brought here to testify and promptly disappeared. Lightholder said he saw Klein in Senator Smith's office and he was not the barber. The officer then was excused.

Capt. Moore Called

Capt. James Moore, commander of the steamer Mount Temple, which was supposed to have been almost within hailing distance of the Titanic on the day that ship went down last week the stand. He said he had been at sea for 32 years, 27 years in the North Atlantic ocean.

"Are you familiar with ice and icebergs?" asked Senator Smith.

"Yes, sir; very familiar," said the captain.

"An iceberg may be composed of anything. It is ice broken off from the land in the Arctic regions and may be composed of land rocks and most anything that it would pick up in its course," explained the captain.

Senator Smith sought this information because of some levity caused by a question he asked several days ago as to what an iceberg was composed of and the witness answered, "Ice."

"How do icebergs look on a starlit night?" asked Senator Smith.

"White, sir. In fact they are humbugs."

The night of the Titanic disaster the sky was studded thick with stars.

"Where was your ship on Sunday night, April 14?"

"We were in latitude 41.25; longitude, 51.14 at 12.30 a. m., ship's time."

"This was a message the operator picked up."

"What reply did you send?"

"None whatever, sir; we did not want to stop those distress messages going out and the operator said the Titanic couldn't hear him. I blew the whistle at once and ordered the engine toward the Titanic's position. I dressed and went to the chart room. We steamed up and sailed east by compass. We turned right toward the Titanic. Then I went to the chief engineer, told him about the Titanic and to push up the fire, wake up all extra firemen and to get them busy. I said: 'If necessary give the firemen a lot of rum, sir.'"

"A what?" asked Senator Smith.

"A lot of rum, sir," Captain Moore replied. "To wake them up and spur them to action."

49 Miles From Titanic

"At the time you got this message from the Titanic how far distant did you figure the vessel was from you?"

"About 49 miles."

The senator asked what speed the

Mount Temple made toward the Titanic. Captain Moore said: "A trifle more than 11 knots."

"About 3 a. m. we ran into our first ice," continued the witness, "and we immediately doubled the look-out watch."

"At 3.25 ship (me, we) had to stop. At that time we figured we were about 14 miles distant from where the Titanic signalled."

The Mount Temple was again delayed by a small schooner, the green light of which halted the Mount Temple. For a moment the captain got range of the white masthead lights and they disappeared.

"The schooner was between the Mount Temple and the Titanic."

"How much nearer the Titanic was that schooner than you were?"

"Oh, it could not have been more than a mile and half from me."

MANY BRITISH SAILORS TO BE EXAMINED YET

WASHINGTON, April 27.—Captain Thomas Moore of the Canadian Pacific R. Co.'s steamship Mount Temple arrived in Washington today to testify before the senate committee inquiry into the Titanic disaster. Passengers on the Mount Temple, which was in the vicinity of the Titanic on the fateful night of Sunday, April 14, have declared they saw the Titanic's lights and signals. Wireless Operator Cottam of the Carpathia testified he did not believe the Mount Temple got the Titanic's wireless signals of distress because the operator of the Mount Temple had given him "Good night" shortly after ten o'clock that night.

The committee has yet to examine a number of the British sailors who survived the Titanic wreck and contemplates putting some of them on the stand today. A Crawford, one of the stewards, who was examined in New York, also is awaiting recall.

J. Bruce Ismay, managing director of the White Star line, who has been waiting in Washington five days attending the hearings from beginning to end each day, still is waiting to testify. He said today that he was not so impatient since the testimony of 25 survivors of the crew had been taken in one day by the arrangement whereby each senator spent nearly a whole night examining them. He expected to take the stand within a few days. The committee does not wish to recall him until it has cleared up all the points it can through surviving members of the crew and those on ships known to have been in the Titanic's vicinity the night of the catastrophe.

Chairman Smith reiterated today the statement that no more passengers or survivors would be heard until the officers, members of the crew and crews of other boats have testified. The four surviving officers of the Titanic are still held.

Fifth Officer Lowe is contemplating demanding of Senator Smith upon what information he based his interrogation of him as to his society.

No Civil Service Examination for Duckworth

Thomas Duckworth, who was elected superintendent of cemeteries by the municipal council some time ago, will not have to take a civil service examination, the civil service commission having decided that the position is not within the classified civil service.

Commissioner Cummings wrote to the commission for information, stating all the details relative to the position and he has received the following in reply:

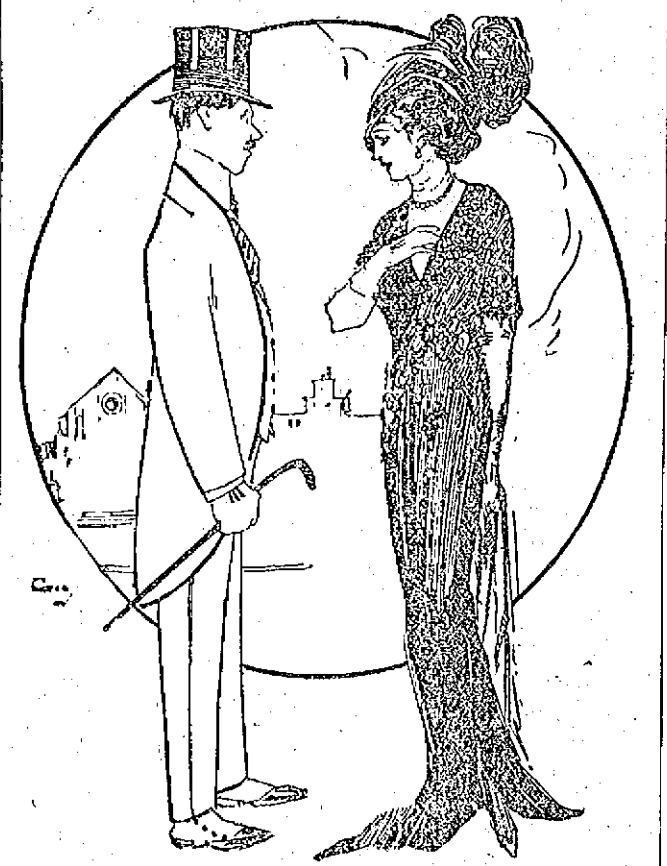

April 26, 1912.

Lawrence, Cummings, Esq., Alderman-in-Charge, Public Cemeteries, Lowell, Mass.

Dear Sir: Your letter of the 21st instant, in relation to the position of superintendent of cemeteries in Lowell, has received the consideration of the commission and upon your statement the commission has decided that this position is the head of a principal department, within the meaning of the term used in section 9 of chapter 19 of the revised laws, and therefore, is not within the classified civil service.

In consequence, the commission will take no further action in the matter. Very truly yours,

Up to within a day or two little or no interest has been manifested in the coming presidential primaries by the democrats, the Taft and Roosevelt partisans having all the fun to themselves. Congressman Ames, who has been out of the line fight for a long time has suddenly returned home to take a good healthy kick at Col. Roosevelt's hat which it appears he did only last evening at the several Taft rallies. The Roosevelt supporters, under the management of William N. Osgood, are confident that Teddy will make a showing at least in Congressman Ames' home town. At present the republican voter of Lowell has practically made up his mind as to which of the two candidates for president he desires, but ask the ordinary democrat who his choice may be and almost invariably his answer will be: 'I haven't given the matter a thought.'

A Wilson Missionary

Yesterday, however, announcement was made to the effect that a rally on behalf of the candidacy of Gov. Woodrow Wilson will be held in Harrington hall and simultaneously a gentleman named John J. Gifford of Trenton, N. J. appeared in town and circulated among well-known democrats in behalf of Gov. Wilson. Mr. Gifford called upon Mayor O'Donnell and spoke in glowing terms of the great record made by the governor of New Jersey. He then called upon Chairman Cornelius H. Cronin of the democratic city committee and the president of the local Woodrow Wilson club. Mr. Gifford felt confident that the Wilson supporters will predominate in Boston. Since then the local friends of Hon. James H. Vahey and ex-Congressman Keith have been getting busy in this city and also the friends of Frank J. Donahue of Boston with the result that there is some democratic interest displayed after all. There are eight delegates at large to be elected, one of whom is Humphrey O'Sullivan, who undoubtedly will get all the democratic votes of the city.

Democratic Ballot

The sample ballot of the democratic party resembles a patent medicine circular rather than a ballot and from its appearance the near-sighted voter won't have a chance. Owing to the small dimensions of the ballot and the number of names on it the type used is very small and the spaces reserved for the voters is exceedingly small. The voter has 15 names from which to select eight delegates-at-large and the candidates are as follows: Frank J. Donahue of Boston, pledged to preference of democrats; E. Gerry Brown of Brockton, for Eugene H. Foss; John W. Coughlin of Fall River, for Foss; John F. Fitzgerald of Boston, for Foss; William P. Hayes of Springfield, for Foss; Charles J. Martel for Foss; Humphrey O'Sullivan of Lowell, for Foss; Charles E. Strecker of Brookline, for Foss; David I. Walsh of Fitchburg, for Foss; Henry F. Burt of Taunton, for Woodrow Wilson; Henry T. Schaefer of Boston, favorable to candidate chosen by primary; George Fred Williams of Dedham primary preference; John P. Sweeney of Methuen, unpledged; James H. ### Gave a Grand Performance in Associate Hall Last Night

The M. T. I. Bachelor Girls, noted as musical entertainers of rare talent, gave another of their delightful musical song recitals last night, the affair being held in Associate hall. The entertainment was one of the best of its kind ever given in this city and much credit is due the soloists as well as the chorus girls for their splendid singing.

The stage was set to represent a section of a large Atlantic liner, the soloists and the pany being seated on the main deck and the chorus on the upper deck. Up above them were the two big funnels and strings of banners. The entire cast with the exception of the pany ballet were in pretty white sailor costumes with black ties. The setting presented a very pretty sight and when the curtain was drawn the audience greeted the performers with loud applause.

The excellent program rendered was as follows:

Opening Chorus.
M. T. I. Bachelor Girls.
Special number by Quartet,
Misses Boland, Buckley, Bonin, Nolan.
"My Little Jungle Maid,"
Miss Rose McDonough,
"My Beautiful Rose,"
Miss Alice Bonin.
"Cindy."

Get One of Our Sample Suits at $8.89

They Are Worth $12, $15 and $18

Yesterday and Thursday were banner days for us. It showed that the men of Lowell know a good thing when they see it. These suits are all samples, and were sold to us at about one-half price. They were made by Deitz Brothers who manufacture a very high grade of clothing called the "Designers Brand." If you need a suit come in as soon as possible, because by Monday night we do not expect there will be many left.

Girl Was Saved

Col. Roosevelt Caught Her Just in Time

HARTFORD, Conn., April 27.—Traveling from New York to Worcester yesterday afternoon, Col. Roosevelt saved one life and made a couple of votes, perhaps. He is generally acknowledged to have saved the life of Miss Ruth Vance, a senior in the Northwood, Mass., high school, who was returning on board the colonel's train with a party which had been spending a spring vacation in Washington, accompanied by Mrs. Gene Field.

At New Haven the high school girls joined the crowd that congregated about the colonel's car. Independence, and, forgetful of the time, many had to rush for their forward cars when the train started to move.

Slower than her companions, Miss Vance, lingering behind, was being left on the platform when the colonel beckoned to her to board his own car. She, however, intent upon joining her own party, was fast losing ground when in desperation she reached for the handrail of the "Independence" only to slip almost beneath the wheels of the car.

Then the steady right arm of the lion-hunter grasped her wrist and she was hauled bodily over the guardrail and to safety amid the vociferous cheers of the New Haveners who had been anxiously waiting the colonel's wave his hat in vings as he told them with vehemence that he was going to make "the speech of my life tonight at Worcester."

Fell Down Stairs

WOMAN WAS WEAK FROM LOSS OF BLOOD

Bridget Manning was taken from her home, 237 Dutton street last night, and removed to St. John's hospital, suffering from bad cuts received in a fall down stairs. The woman was not seriously injured but she was very weak from the loss of blood from a deep wound in the head. The police later visited the above address and arrested Lawrence Martin on a charge of drunkenness.

Girl Goes Blind

STRICKEN WHILE AT WORK AT SWITCHBOARD

ATLANTIC CITY, April 27.—Ethel Hittner, a 17-year-old operator in the Bell telephone exchange here, called up Dr. Marcus from her switchboard yesterday and said:

"I've gone blind, doctor; will you call at the exchange as soon as you can?"

Then Miss Hittner slid, fainting, from her chair. The other operators had no intimation before that of any trouble, although they knew the girl had been under Dr. Marcus' care.

"The child fell a victim to her desire to 'make good,'" Dr. Marcus said last night after he had examined Miss Hittner's eyes. "The lights which automatically signal from the switchboard that a receiver has been taken off its hook spoiled the chance Miss Hittner had of recovering from an injury received a year ago. She fell then and cut herself over the right eye."

"The nerve was impaired, but it responded to treatment, and the girl would have to work through the Easter rush."

"Now the weakened nerve has broken down again. Miss Hittner may recover, but the odds are against her, and if she gets better it will only be after a long course of treatment."

A GOLD TABLET

TO BE PRESENTED TO MARCONI MONDAY EVENING

NEW YORK, April 27.—A feature of the Titanic memorial and benefit performance to be given at the Metropolitan opera house on Monday evening for the benefit of the families of the Titanic's musicians will be the presentation to Guglielmo Marconi of a handsome gold tablet designed by Paul Troubetzkoy in commemoration of the part played by wireless telegraphy in the rescue of the survivors.

On its obverse side the tablet represents the Titanic heading toward an immense iceberg on the side of which is the figure of a kneeling woman with her hand covering her face in agony. On the reverse appears the head of Mr. Marconi heroically designed.

SPECIAL SERVICES

TO BE HELD AT ST. JOSEPH'S CHURCH TOMORROW

Tomorrow will be the feast of the patronage of St. Joseph, and on this occasion the Easter music will be repeated at the high mass at St. Joseph's church. The mass, which will be a solemn high, will be celebrated by the pastor Rev. Howard Warlick, and the sermon will be delivered by the rector, Rev. Charles Parquette, O. M. I.

At the seven o'clock mass the members of the Holy Family sodality will receive communion in a body and the sermon will be delivered by the spiritual director of the sodality, Rev. Joseph Bliss, O. M. I. In the evening at 8:30 o'clock there will be a general meeting of both the married and single men's branches at which 20 new members will be received into the organization and the officers for the ensuing year will be chosen.

The sodality has given orders for the large banner of the Holy Family and also two flags, the American and the Sacred Heart. These, it is expected, will arrive next week and the solemn blessing will be held a week from tomorrow.

ARM FRACTURED

Man Fell and Was Badly Injured

Jeremiah Driscoll is confined to St. John's hospital suffering from a broken right arm and several cuts on his head, as the result of a fall at his home, 23 Webster street, in an endeavor to escape from his room, when a fire was in progress. At 9:23 last night a kerosene lamp was overturned in Driscoll's room and he made a hasty retreat to the stairway falling down the flight of stairs. When picked up he was in an unconscious condition and was removed to the hospital. An alarm was rung from box 21 and the firemen soon had control of the flames which were confined to the bedding and the partition.

HEAVY BATTING GAME

Lowell Won From Lynn in the Ninth Inning

There were about 300 fans present at the game between Lowell and Lynn at Spalding park yesterday. There was a brisk wind blowing across the diamond, but the people present were so enthusiastic that they did not feel the draught. It was the second game between the two teams this season and although Lowell won the first, it was by such a small score that "Doc" Hovey and a crowd of Lynn rooters came to this city and occupied positions where they could witness the game to advantage and also give vent to their feelings verbally. Patsy Delovian, former manager of the Boston Americans and who is now doing scout duty for one of the big league teams, was on the firing line and kept his eagle eyes on the players of both teams.

The game was called at 3:15 o'clock by Umpire Jack Kerin.

First Inning
Lynn broke the ice in the first inning by sending one man across the plate. Wallace was the first man to face Yount and he singled by second and went to second on a sacrifice by Strands. Wallace was then caught off second. Yount hit Burkel to Boules. Keefe followed with a single. McGovern drew a free pass and when Logan straggled to left, Keefe scored. McGovern was thrown out at third, retiring the side.

In the latter half of the inning the home team scored two runs, both being forced in. Burkel drew a free pass and went to second on The Groff's single. Conney hit to Morris and De Groff was thrown out at second. Conney stole second and Magee then walked, filling the bases. Burkel was forced in. Boules hit to Morris and the latter got Conney at the plate. Miller got hit by a pitched ball and Magee was forced home. Lavigne hit to Morris and Miller was caught at the plate.

Score—Lowell 2, Lynn 1.

Second Inning
Lynn scored six runs in the second inning, the majority of the runs being due to the wildness of Yount who gave three bases on balls. Morris, the first man up, was given a free pass as was Conney. Wallace singled and Morris scored, and Conney went to third. Haynes hit to Boules and was out at first. Wallace was given a base on balls and Conney scored on a wild pitch. Strands scored. Wallace with a single to the infield. Keefe hit to Burkel and Wallace scored. McGovern singled to left and Strands scored. Logan hit to right field and Keefe scored. Morris hit to Conney who got Logan at second and the ball was then sent to first for a double play.

Lowell scored two runs in the latter half of the inning. Yount opened with a single to right field and Burkel tied to Wallace. De Groff fanned the bases. Conney then lifted the ball over the right field fence for a home run, the first home run made on the local grounds during the season and he and Yount scored. Magee drew a base on balls and Rising followed with another free pass. At this point in the game Haynes was taken out of the box and Reiser substituted. Boules died to Wallace.

Score—Lowell 4, Lynn 7.

Third Inning
Lynn scored another run in the third inning. Conney started the ball rolling by knocking it into left field for a two bagger and went to third on Weeden's sacrifice. Reiser singled and O'Connell scored. Wallace struck out. Strands got a two bagger to left field but Keefe was third out on a grounder to Burkel who threw the runner out at first.

Lowell scored seven runs in the latter half of the inning. Miller, the first man up, walked to first after being hit by a pitched ball. Lavigne hit to Logan who threw him to McGovern and both men were out. Yount singled to left field scoring Miller and Lavigne. Burkel walked and De Groff beat the ball to first on an infield hit. Conney singled to center and Yount and Miller scored. Magee followed with another single to center and De Groff scored. Rising sacrificed. Boules sent the ball into right field for a single and Conney and Magee scored. Boules in trying to reach second was thrown out. Miller singled to left, stole second, Lavigne drew a base on balls and Yount wound up the inning by hitting the ball to O'Connell and Miller was out at third.

Score—Lowell 11, Lynn 8.

Fourth Inning
In the fourth inning McGovern hit to Burkel and died at first. Logan struck out. Morris slammed the ball over the left field fence for a home run. O'Connell was third out, Conney to first.

The home team failed to score in the fourth. Burkel hit to left field and when Keefe dropped the ball he made two bases. De Groff sacrificed, sending him to third. Conney died to O'Connell and Burkel in trying to steal home was thrown out at the plate.

Score—Lowell 11, Lynn 9.

Fifth Inning
The first game ever for Lynn was registered in the fifth inning. Weeden struck out but Lavigne dropped the ball. Lavigne, however, recovered the ball in time to get the runner at first. Reiser threw to left, Wallace hit to Burkel who threw Weeden out at second and Strands was third out on a fly to Conney.

In Lowell's half Magee struck out and Rising died to Morris. Boules got hit by a pitched ball and later stole second but he died there for Miller hit to Lavigne and died at first.

Score—Lowell 11, Lynn 9.

ONE MAN WAS KILLED

Another Dying--Struck by Auto in Boston Today

BOSTON, April 27.—One man is very fast and it was reported to dead and another is dying as the result of being struck by an auto driven by an unknown man in Boylston st. today. The victims, Thomas Donahue, 45 years old, married, of South Boston, and John Connolly, aged 35, of South Boston, were repairing tracks for the Boston Elevated road and had stepped to the outward bound track to avoid a car when the auto came speeding along. According to witnesses the machine was traveling at a cluded in the list to give addresses to the voters.

The cheers for Roosevelt in the South station had scarcely died away when they were renewed by the advent of Gov. Woodrow Wilson on his way from the rally here last night for additional speeches today in Worcester, Springfield and Holyoke.

At the East headquarters arrangements were perfected for the second visit of the president to the state on Monday, when he will take up the Roosevelt trail through Bristol, Plymouth, Essex and Middlesex counties.

A statement was issued today by the supporters of Senator La Follette, claiming that the Wisconsin aspirant for the presidency would poll 20,000 in the presidential primaries on Tuesday.

At the Clark headquarters it was stated that Charles A. Towne of New York, Gov. Elect Robinson of Arkansas and Senator Dubois would reach here late today and speak in several Boston wards, as well as at Brockton and Chelsea tonight. Copies of the "Horn" song are being given wide distribution.

The daily newspapers in nearly all parts of the state fairly bristled today with political advertisements.

POLITICAL BATTLES

BOSTON, April 27.—With speeches scheduled in several large cities in Massachusetts, today promised to be one of considerable activity for Colonel Roosevelt. His first address after leaving the South station on a forenoon train was from the train at Quincy, Brockton, Middleboro, Taunton, New Bedford and Fall River were also on the calendar for speeches by the former president. The closing rally of the day takes place tonight at the Boston arena where it was believed the colonel would answer many of President Taft's charges delivered from the same ring last Thursday night. Leaders of the Roosevelt campaign in this state had arranged rallies today in more than a score of cities and towns with several prominent speakers in

BROADWAY MILLINERY CO.

The latest addition in the millinery business in our city is the Broadway Wholesale Millinery Co. It the shapely materials, ribbons, feathers and ornaments and everything used in the millinery art are not sold at the lowest prices in the country it is not the fault of the Broadway Wholesale Millinery Co., for they are surely raising havoc to the high priced milliners. They are located at 123 Merrimack street, up one night, and it certainly seems that it would pay a person to climb a dozen flights to get such wonderful bargains. Their big ad in yesterday's Sun should be read by every lady that appreciates great values in millinery. A dollar saved is as good as two earned, and it seems by prices quoted that that is easily done by trading with the Broadway Wholesale Millinery Co.

MANAGER OF CINCINNATI REDS AND THREE OF HIS STARS NOW SETTING SWIFT PACE

CINCINNATI, April 27.—Frank O'Day and his Red Legs are now the sensation of the National League. The team has started off with a rush, and experts are guessing as to whether they will keep it up or if it is just a flash in the pan. Local critics are of the opinion that the Reds are the strongest team in the parent organization and should continue at the present pace all season. Clark Griffith left O'Day some splendid material to work on, so now it looks as if the ex-umpire has made a strong aggregation together. The Reds have been fortunate in landing

NEWSPAPER MEN IN NEW YORK HEAR SPEECH BY PRESIDENT TAFT, WHO WAS IN BOSTON; EACH GUEST HAD INDIVIDUAL RECEIVER, AND SPEAKER'S WORDS WERE CLEARLY HEARD

NEW YORK, April 27.—Eight hundred journalists in the banquet room at the Waldorf-Astoria heard a speech delivered to them by President Taft, who was in Boston. They heard it through telephones, each diner having an individual receiver, while a transmitter at one side of the room equipped with a horn gathered the cheers and sent them to the speaker 250 miles away. The occasion was the annual dinner of the American Newspaper Publishers' association and the Associated Press. The picture shows the audience with the telephone receivers to their ears. Dr. Alexander Graham Bell, the inventor of the telephone, and Thomas A. Edison heard the speech. They are shown in the picture directly under the big flag and are indicated by "V," Dr. Bell being at the right.

A RALLY FOR WILSON

Prominent Speakers Addressed a Gathering of Local Citizens

Many local voters who are advocating the candidacy of Gov. Woodrow Wilson for the democratic nomination for president, held an enthusiastic meeting in Harrington hall, 52 Central street last evening. All the speakers urged the nomination of Gov. Wilson on the ground that he is the strongest man the democrats can name and referred to his great vote-getting ability in New Jersey. Hon. James B. Casey, president and asked the democrats to turn out in large numbers to the polls and vote for Gov. Wilson, whom he classed as one of the real progressive men of the country.

He presented as the first speaker Cornelius Ford, president of the New Jersey State Federation of Labor and a member of the New Jersey assembly. Mr. Ford said in part: "The legislature of New Jersey was absolutely controlled by the interests up to the time that Woodrow Wilson was elected governor, and today I believe that we are one of the most progressive states in the East."

"I have been informed that George Fred Williams has been saying that Governor Wilson is opposed to labor. Now, in New Jersey, we have many operatives, and they recognize in Governor Wilson their loyal friend. When he came into office he found conditions most deplorable, and in his inaugural address he set forth what the legislature must do to correct such conditions. As a result, we have laws more equitable to the working people."

"In Trenton state prison they make goods for 43 cents a day, and these goods went out to the people in competition with regularly manufactured goods prior to the election of Governor Wilson."

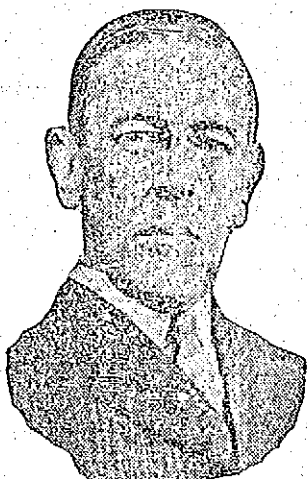

Since his election this has been done away with at his legislation. And yet his traders deliberately call you that he is not a friend of labor!"

"Gov. Wilson says the man is above the dollar, and he has been consistent in this attitude at all times. He has not served the trusts, but on the contrary, has opposed them at all times when their efforts were directed against the public good. The Pennsylvania railroad had New Jersey by the throat until Gov. Wilson came upon the scene then it went out of business as a dictator."

Congressman Burleson
A. S. Burleson, congressman from Texas spoke at some length, saying among other things: "I represent the largest cotton producing country in the world and therefore, it is fitting that I should address you people of a great cotton manufacturing center."

"As a party, the democratic people of this country were disturbed and retarded by strife within their ranks, but in 1910, harmony took possession and the result was a great victory. The people of the country, irrespective of party, at this time, became sick of the republican organization that had been naming its officers for the purpose of playing into the hands of the interests. Today, for the first time in years, a united democratic party is working, while the republican party is stirred by dissension. Roosevelt is assailing the republican party and in every speech he is stating the fact that there is within the party an organization that blocks all of the rights of the people; and on the other hand President an inspiring situation for democrats! What a splendid opportunity confronts us!"

"The democratic party has always given its support to honesty in public life. It first advocated the civil service system. We want to win in order that this government may find its way into the hands of the people, as so forcibly advocated by Roosevelt recently."

"Now, we want to win. In the first place, who will be benefited by democratic success? The people. It is your right. If we have had government in this country, it is the fault of the people, and you've got no one to blame but yourselves. Don't let a man wreck your organization if he can't rule it."

"Don't let any boss say to you that he won't support the democratic ticket if his candidate doesn't win, and thereby win your vote, even though he is at the head of a big newspaper. The only way to win is by selecting the most available candidate."

"I believe that the candidate best qualified to bring about the control of the government by the people should be the selection of the party. The responsibility resting on the American citizen is a serious one, and every man must express himself at the polls Tuesday. Of the democratic candidates, I will say that they are all excellent men, but there is only one of these who has strength from Washington to Florida and from Maine to Texas."

"Clark is a candidate against Wilson in this state, and he is a fine old fellow, and he would make you an excellent president, but can he be elected? The independent voter is going to control the coming election, and Mr. Wilson is the man who will command this vote."

Parker D. Morris
Hon. Parker D. Morris of Boston, well known in Lowell, was introduced in complimentary terms by Chairman Casey, and he discussed eloquently the pledges made by Gov. Wilson, to the people of New Jersey before his election as governor. Mr. Morris argued that Gov. Wilson has demonstrated himself to be in the forefront of the progressive movement. He referred to him as the man who not unlike other men seeking political preferment, promised to reform conditions, and made good. Such is the man he believed should be selected to lead the democratic party."

Hon. Charles M. Mason, dean of the New Jersey Law school, was the final speaker, and he spoke plainly, referring to Gov. Wilson's appointments to judgeships in his state, as fine types of progressive, clean, honest and in most cases, young men. He felt that because of Gov. Wilson's perfect record in public life, his genuine independence, and his loyalty to the plain people of the state whilst in the governor's chair, he would win in the presidential primary."

GREAT CROWD

LISTENED TO WILSON AT BOSTON MEETING

BOSTON, April 27.—Before an enthusiastic crowd that packed Tremont Temple to the doors, Governor Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey last night announced the principles of his democracy.

He pledged himself to lay aside all personal ambition, and to support the nominee of the democratic party, wherever he may be.

Solemnly he voiced a warning to the people of Massachusetts, that whoever party wins this fall, if that party does not redeem its pledges to the citizens of the nation and bring about the social, economic and political reforms sorely needed, it will mean that the next president of the United States will be elected by the socialists.

He scathingly arraigned William B. Hearst for attempting to disrupt the democratic party on the eve of its greatest opportunity for a generation, and declared:

"In the present juncture such an act is absolute disloyalty to the United States."

"The republican party has accepted favors from the privileged interests of this country," he charged, "and is bound to those interests body and soul."

"The democratic party, thank God, is free today. Ours is the opportunity. Therefore any man who attempts to disrupt the democratic party is a traitor to his country."

NORTH CHELMSFORD

Selectman D. F. Small's store was broken into the other night and a small amount of money was taken. It seems that there were a few dollars left in the cash register on the night in question and when Mr. Small opened up in the morning he found that the money was missing. Upon investigation he found that nothing else was taken.

The members of Court Wagonette No. 171, M. C. O. F., held a very successful whist party and dance last night in the town hall, with a large attendance. Whist was enjoyed in the lower hall by the lovers of the game while the younger people engaged in dancing in the upper hall, to the music of Klitredge's orchestra. Dancing started at 8 o'clock and continued until 12. During the intermission James P. Quigley and John J. Curry counted the score cards for the successful prize winners at whist. Mrs. C. A. Williams of Lowell and Miss Charlotte Lowe were tied for first prize and were obliged to cut the cards. The result of the cut gave the first prize, a cut glass dish, to Mrs. Williams, while the second prize, a set of pins, went to Miss Lowe. The gentleman's first prize, a pair of rosary beads, was awarded to James McGovern, while James P. Quigley took second, a pin. The consolation went to Miss Veronica Lowe and Henry Miner. After the awarding of the prizes, dancing was resumed until midnight, when a late car returned to Lowell. The following committee had charge of the affair: Alphonse Magnan, general manager; Elizabeth Dunnigan, assistant; George Stanley, floor director; Alice Leahy, assistant; Fred Ready, chief aid. Committee on whist: Perley Constantineau, James Reilly, Mary Donnelly and C. McOlinney.

BILLERICA

A Taft rally was held at the Billerica Republican club in Billerica, last night. The meeting was held in the North village and John Brown, the president of the club, occupied the chair during the evening. There was a good sized attendance.

The speakers of the evening were Congressman Butler Ames, and Alanzo G. Walsh of Lowell and both advocated the nomination of President William H. Taft as the republican candidate for the presidency. Following the meeting a brief reception was held by Congressman Ames.

RENOMINATE PRESIDENT TAFT

Here is Theodore Roosevelt's real opinion of William H. Taft, given after years of intimate knowledge and acquaintance:

"I do not believe there can be found in the whole country a man so well fitted to be President. He is not only absolutely fearless, absolutely disinterested and upright, but he has the widest acquaintance with the nation's needs, without and within, and the broadest sympathies with all our citizens; as emphatically a President of the plain people as Lincoln was, yet not Lincoln himself would be free from the least taint of demagoguery, the least tendency to appeal to class hatred of any kind. To no one class does William H. Taft appeal so strongly as to the workingman. There is nothing he will not do to improve his condition and advance his interests, except to do that which is wrong and he will not do wrong for anybody."

MASSACHUSETTS KNOWS THAT THIS OPINION IS RIGHT.
GIVE TO SUCH A MAN THE ENDORSEMENT AND THE SECOND TERM HE HAS EARNED.

FLYNN LOST BOUT

One of Seconds Stepped Into Ring

There was a large attendance of members at last night's meeting of the Lowell Social and Athletic club and all were treated to one of the best shows of the season. There were four bouts and each furnished a great deal of excitement. In the main bout, which was scheduled to go 12 rounds, between Eddie Flynn and Young Clancy, the latter won in the fifth round, as when Flynn went through the ropes, Chester Bernard, who was in his corner, jumped into the ring. This is a violation of the rules of boxing, and Referee Gardner stopped the bout and gave the verdict to Clancy. It was a misfortune for Flynn to lose a bout when he was going at such a fast clip and in the five rounds that they fought he had the better of the contest. Both started at a fast clip in the opening round. Flynn sent in a number of body punches and Clancy came back with a couple of strong left uppercuts. Both exchanged about evenly, but Flynn had a slight advantage in the second round. Clancy sent in a couple of lefts that jarred the Flynn boy. Flynn was there with the come back and sent in an array of blows that sent Clancy to the floor for the count of nine. As the latter got up, both clinched and the round ended with Flynn on the long end. The third started with Flynn ducking a choice left swing and coming in with strong right to the body. Clancy sent in lefts and evened up matters as the round closed. In the fourth Flynn sent Clancy to the floor again but the latter was there strong and gave a good exhibition in the round. Clancy came in strong as the fifth started and worked his left to excellent advantage. Flynn sent back body punches and both exchanged good ones as the round was ending. Clancy again got the jump in the sixth and landed two lefts with good effect. Both were fighting hard when Flynn went through the ropes and his second had him disqualified by entering the ring. It was a great bout and it is expected that they will meet again. The semi final, between Charlie Anastas and Young Edmunds, was all Anastas. The contest lasted two rounds and in that time the Greek had it all his own way. He gave a fine exhibition of boxing. The six round bout between Gardner Brooks and Eddie Donnellan was the best preliminary that was ever seen at the club. It went the limit and there was excitement all the way. Brooks got two decisions. Both showed up well. The great footwork and the cleverness of Brooks was too much for the willing Young Donnellan. The latter put up a good bout and made Brooks go hard to win. In the first rounds Donnellan gave his best exhibition, but as the bout went on, the fast Brooks got stronger and by his left jabbing and clever ducking managed to shade his opponent. Last night was Donnellan's first appearance in the ring and considering that fact he gave a great account of himself and with a little more experience will make a good boxer. By defeating Donnellan, Brooks has won seven straight bouts. The other preliminary between Terry O'Rourke and Lawrence and Young Kellier was very lively and resulted in a draw.

Billy Gardner tendered his resignation to the club as matchmaker after the meeting, but said that he will continue as referee. The new matchmaker is George E. Quinn of Boston, who is well known to the fight fans of New England. He announced that in the future the meetings of the club will be held on Thursday evenings.

BLEACHERY TEAM

Defeated Plumbers in Brunswick League

The Cloth Room and the Foremen of the Tremont & Suffolk leagues met on the evening last night and the former team took three of the four points. The Cloth Room team had a slight advantage on their competitors in the first stria but in the second they carried off the total by 32 pins but the Foremen got into the running in the third stria and trimmed their opponents by seven pins; but the difference was so small that it did not count for much in the total, the Cloth Room winning by a wide margin.

In the Brunswick league the Bleachery team defeated the Plumbers in all four stria. Richardson of the winning team was the star player making a total of 312 and also the high single of 111.

The scores:

Tremont & Suffolk League
Cloth Room: P. Farrell, 225; J. Manning, 250; R. Stack, 253; W. Smith, 245; C. Farrell, 287; totals, 1260.
Foremen: E. O'Brien, 281; Stevenson, 247; Jodoin, 245; Sub, 247; French, 249; totals, 1210.

Brunswick League

Bleachery: McIntire, 285; Roarke, 275; Whitlock, 290; McElroy, 290; Richardson, 312; totals, 1452.
Plumbers: Hession, 265; Quirk, 374; Weiden, 260; Shepherd, 265; Burns, 283; totals, 1270.

NEWSBOY WAS SHOT

Bullet Was Not Intended for Him

BOSTON, April 27.—A 13-year-old newsboy was shot down and many persons narrowly escaped being hit by bullets, when, at State and Commerce streets, yesterday afternoon, Philip J. Hayes, a pickpocket, opened fire on Francis "Tubby" McNabb, a former partner. McNabb was not hurt.

Hayes was arrested at the "L" structure at the State street station, after a thrilling chase, but got rid of the revolver by throwing it into the water from the structure before he was caught by Patrolman Chisholm of division 2. McNabb was arrested later and looked on a charge of being a suspicious person.

The innocent victim of the shooting was Harry Pokat of 251 Chambers street, West End. One bullet struck him in the left shoulder. He was picked up by Patrolman Keane of station 2 and rushed to the Relief hospital. He is not dangerously wounded. It is said Hayes showed the police a stab wound over his right eye, which he charges McNabb inflicted.

WELLS DEFEATED

He Was No Match for McFarland

NEW YORK, April 27.—Packey McFarland, who was introduced last night at Madison Square Garden as Chicago's fighting Irishman, gave England's lightweight champion, Matt Wells, a severe drubbing. The men fought 10 rounds at the Garden Athletic club and, while McFarland was a 10 to 7 favorite, nobody thought that his task would be so easy. Wells was a decided disappointment, and the Englishman's much-heralded cleverness was not in evidence after the opening round. McFarland was at all stages of the bout cool and collected, while Wells lost his head early. Packey jabbed, swung and uppeered his man at will from the opening of the second round till the final clang of the bell, and Wells made frantic efforts to land a telling blow, but Packey invariably made him miss by clever sidestepping and ducking. Wells did not land 10 clean blows during the entire contest, but was kept busy trying to escape McFarland's unrelenting stinging jabs and uppercuts.

It is estimated that about 9000 persons were in the house and that the receipts will be over $30,000.

At 10 o'clock, when Wells made his appearance in the ring, attended by his manager, George McDonald, and Trainer Delling, he was greeted with cheers and the band played the British national anthem. McFarland arrived a minute afterward, attended by his

FOUND NOT GUILTY

Burbank Was Charged With Larceny

John Burbank, who was charged with the larceny of $1.50 from Constable Victor H. de Helle-Isle, and who entered a plea of not guilty at yesterday's session of the police court, was found not guilty and ordered discharged by Judge John F. Pickman. In this case the government claimed that a keeper had been placed in Burbank's store in Bridge street, and while the said keeper was there, a clerk sold a hat valued at $1.50 and turned the money to the proprietor, which is illegal when there is an attachment. (The evidence this afternoon, however, brought out the fact that the clerk did make the sale but kept the money as a part payment of her wages, and therefore the judge found for the defendant.)

HELD FOR GRAND JURY

Men Charged With Larceny of 10,000 Packages of Cigarets

The principal case brought before Judge John J. Dickman in police court this morning was that of William O'Brien and William Melancon, charged with the larceny of 10,000 packages of cigarettes, the property of Frederick D. Shepard. Plans of not guilty were entered by the defendants but after the court had considered the testimony offered he found both defendants guilty and ordered each under bonds of $500 for the superior court.

The first witness for the government was Frederick D. Shepard, who testified that he is a dealer and occupied the third floor of the building in the rear of the Morse Coach Co. He said that he mixed between four and five cases of cigarettes and that each case was valued at about $100. He said that he thought about 25,000 cigarettes had been stolen from his storehouse during the past few months.

On cross-examination the witness said that he had examined the property last Thursday and that he knew that three cases of Perfection cigarettes were missing at that time.

Witness said that he did not know what the contents of the storehouse was but that he had found that a break had been made and that goods were missing.

Lieutenant Martin Maher said that he saw the men trying to dispose of the cigarettes and when asked where he got them Nicholson said that they were purchased from a farmer.

When the pair were brought to the police station and put through a field examination, he said, they admitted that on Wednesday night, between 9 and 9:30 o'clock they got a hammer and opened three cases of cigarettes, but before they could leave the city the police had the two young men. It is alleged that the two defendants after stealing the goods sold what they could and then buried the rest.

When Lieut. Maher was cross-examined he said that after the men were arrested he said they should be sent to prison.

When the defense rested its case, arguments were heard and probable cause was found and both defendants were held for the grand jury under $500 each.

Drunken Offenders

Mary Heaps, charged with being drunk, was sentenced to two months in jail.

J. Martin was a second offender and he was ordered to pay a fine of $5.

Assault Case

The case of Nicholas Maggouras, charged with assault and battery on April 14, when it is alleged that he entered the house where his two sisters reside and assaulted Paulus Thereseas, who was also living there, was called.

It occupied considerable time. The complainant testified that on the night in question the defendant came to the house and first picked up a stick and struck him on the head, inflicting a bleed. He then, the complainant testified, pulled out a knife, cutting his hand and later drew a revolver but did not shoot.

The defendant's two sisters testified in behalf of the complainant. One who is married and doesn't live with her husband, said that her brother came to the house and told her to return to her husband. She refused and she said that he then went in and assaulted Thereseas.

The other sister corroborated her testimony in part, but the testimony of the three witnesses showed many discrepancies. The defendant said that he went to the house where the complainant and his sisters were living and that he went there owing to stories that he had heard about his married sister and Thereseas and that when he spoke to the latter about the stories the latter took hold of a chair. He in self-defense took the stick that was lying in the corner and hit him with it. He denied that he had a knife or a revolver. The court found the defendant guilty and imposed a fine of $20. He appealed.

The case of Harris Kaplan, charged with larceny was continued until May 1, the defendant being held in $200.

The case of John Maciewicz, charged with assault upon Alexander Ulanowicz, on last Saturday evening, was called this morning and the testimony was very complicated. Judge Pickman continued it until Tuesday, during which time he will consider the testimony. According to the testimony of the complainant the defendant while he was standing in Bent's court on last Saturday evening came along and without any talk struck him in the stomach. His brother corroborated his testimony. The defendant said that on the night in question the complainant called him a scab and that he, the complainant raised his hand to hit him. The defendant said that he then pushed him away. His brother, too, was a witness and he testified along the same lines.

A Complicated Case

The case of George Economos against the Melotas society in which the former alleges that he was not paid in full an amount voted him by the society, which was supposed to be delivered to him by the treasurer John Angeles, for a sick benefit, was called. It was very technical case and from the testimony it appears that several money transactions were made. At one time a compromise was tried in one of the lawyer's offices. The case was a rather lengthy one and was on at 1:15 o'clock.

THE ANNUAL RECITAL

MRS. LILLIAN O'BRIEN SCANNELL

Fine Showing by Elocution Pupils of Mrs. Scannell

Colonial hall was the scene last night of a very delightful entertainment and great pleasure was afforded an appreciative audience. The entertainers were the pupils of Mrs. Lillian O'Brien Scannell and they were heard in a charming program of readings, impersonations and sketches. The recital was of a high order throughout and the pupils reflected great credit upon their instructor as well as upon themselves. The music was in keeping with the excellent character of the program which opened and closed with an instrumental selection by Mildred Brennan, violin; Ruth Adams, cello; Anna Scannell, pianist.

The ushers were Misses Elizabeth Coughlin, Christine Kane, Mary Scannell, Madeline Grevier, Frances Mulloy and Marie Tracy.

The chief numbers were: "The Shaker Romance," C. E. ## Another Attempt Made to Secure His Release From Asylum

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., April 27.—A fourth attempt through the agency of the law to liberate Harry K. Thaw from the Matteawan state insane asylum, where he has been imprisoned for the slaying of Stanford White six years ago "because of sanity," was made today before Justice Keogh of the supreme court in New Rochelle. Thaw was brought down from Matteawan this morning and taken to New Rochelle, where the hearing was scheduled to be held in the home of Justice Keogh. The hearing today on a writ of habeas corpus was expected to be preliminary in character and it was understood that no witnesses would be examined or exhibits produced. An adjournment for several weeks in order that counsel for the state may go over the voluminous records in previous habeas corpus proceedings was predicted.

Another Fine Presentation by the High School Pupils

"Iolanthe" was given its fourth and last presentation by the students of the high school in high school hall last evening. This very charming musical opera was presented on

FREDERIC O. BLUNT, Director.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights of last week and the call for a "repeat" was so strong and persistent that it was decided to present it again last night. The work done in preparation for the opera had been carried on through this week and there was nothing lacking in last night's performance. There was a good attendance and the performance was more than creditable. To Mr. F. O. Blunt, the musical director of the high school, a great deal of credit is due for his great interest and good work as musical director. He is in perfect harmony with the students and when he puts his time and ability against their endeavors there is always a ready response. Most of the high schools of the larger cities of the state undertake dramatics of some sort during the school year, but few aspire as high as the local school, either in the magnitude of the presentation or the choice of the production and that the teachers and students are capable of classical productions has been very thoroughly and very happily illustrated.

FUNERALS

HUNT—The funeral of Mrs. Ann Hunt took place this morning at 3:30 o'clock from her late home, 30 Merrill street, and proceeded to St. Peter's church, where at 9 o'clock a high mass of requiem was celebrated by Rev. Daniel J. Heffernan. The choir rendered the Gregorian mass. At the offertory "De Profundis" was sung by Mr. James E. Donnelly and as the body was being borne from the church "In Paradisum" was rendered by the choir. Mrs. Josephine McKennedy presided at the organ and the choir was under the direction of Mr. James E. Donnelly.

There was a profusion of beautiful and appropriate floral offerings showing the esteem in which the deceased was held by her many friends and acquaintances and among them were the following: Large wreath of roses, pinks, lilies and ferns with the inscription "At Rest," from the daughter, Miss Sarah Hunt; sheaf of wheat inscribed "Aunt," from the nieces and nephews; palms and maiden-hair ferns from the Misses Katherine and Sarah Sparks; wreath of pinks, roses and ferns, Mr. John F. Thompson. There were several other sprays from friends.

The bearers were: Messrs. John Andrews, Patrick Scanlon, Cornelius Kelleher and Hugh Farley. After leaving the church the funeral cortege proceeded to St. Patrick's cemetery, burial being in the family lot where the committal prayers were read by Rev. Daniel J. Heffernan. The funeral was largely attended and was under the direction of Undertakers Higgins Bros.

SEAMANS—The funeral of Mrs. St. Seaman took place this morning at 9:15 o'clock from the chapel of Undertaker Charles H. Molloy, and was very largely attended. A funeral high mass was celebrated in St. Peter's church at 9:45 o'clock by Rev. Fr. Burns. The Gregorian chant was sung by the choir, the soloists being Miss Gertrude Kelleher and Mr. James E. Donnelly. The organist was Mrs. Josephine McKennedy. The burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery, where Rev. Fr. Burns read the prayers at the grave. The bearers were Richard Deoley, Edmund McNamara, Jeremiah Donley and Edmund McNamara. Among the floral offerings were the following: Large spray from the husband, large wreath from Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Timilty, Mrs. R. C. Donley, Mrs. Roberts and Misses Emma and

CLASS AT VARNUM SCHOOL SUPPLIED WITH YOUNG SILVER MAPLE TREES FOR PLANTING

At the various grammar schools yesterday a large number of young silver maple trees were distributed to the pupils, each child who wanted a tree receiving one or more. At the Varnum school the children were instructed in the method of planting trees, and it is safe to say that ten years hence the silver maple will be prominent among our shade trees throughout the city. The young trees were given away by the A. G. Pollard Company.

DR. PEARSONS DEAD

CHICAGO, April 26.—Dr. Daniel Pearsons, 93 years old, who in recent years gave more than $5,000,000 to small colleges, chiefly in the Middle West, died early today in a sanitarium at Hinsdale, a suburb, comparatively a poor man. Pneumonia with complications due to old age was the cause.

Lena Farrell; large spray from Mary Twohey and Christina Broderick; large spray from Miss Seaman; large spray from the McNamara family. The funeral was in charge of Undertaker Charles H. Molloy.

BERRY—The funeral of John R. Berry took place yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home, 76 Magnolia street, Rev. F. E. Carver officiating. The bearers were Messrs. James and William Broadbent, Mr. Taylor and Mr. Ryder. Burial took place in the Edison cemetery in charge of Undertaker C. M. Young.

FILTEAU—The funeral of Mrs. Philomena Filteau, widow of John B. Filteau, took place at 9 o'clock Thursday morning from her home, 48 Banks street, Somerville. Services were held at St. Catherine's church, solemn high funeral mass being conducted by Rev. Fr. Dorr as celebrant. Rev. Fr. Murphy as deacon and Rev. Fr. Sweeney as sub-deacon. The choir sang the Gregorian mass. The funeral was largely attended by friends and relatives from Lowell, Manchester, Cambridge, Arlington and Somerville. Among the many floral tributes were: Standing cross on base, inscribed "Mother," from daughter, Mrs. Delina M. Polier; from son-in-law, Armand J. Polier; spray, Joseph C. Filteau; standing wreath inscribed "Mother," Eldridge Filteau; pillow inscribed "Mother," Henry A. Filteau; spray, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. J. Taylor; spray, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence C. Pendergast; spray, C. W. Watson; wreath holding large spray, employees of Union Laundry of Boston; spray, Mr. and Mrs. Feltier of Lowell; spray and bouquet, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Pickard and Miss Florence Pickard, all of Somerville.

The bearers were her three sons, Messrs. Joseph C. W. Eldridge, Henry A. Filteau and her son-in-law, Armand J. Polier. Burial was in the family lot at Mt. Pleasant, Arlington, by the side of her recently deceased husband, John B. Filteau. Con-

Primitive folks did not need laxatives. They lived outdoors, ate plenty of fruit, and all of their food was coarse. We modern people are different. We exercise too little, eat little fruit, and our food is too fine—too rich.

We simply can't have our ten yards of bowels clogged up, liver choked with sour bile and stomach full of foul effete matter and feel well. It means that the food and waste retained in the stomach and thirty feet of bowels ferments—decays. The decay creates poisons, gases and acids, and these poisons are sucked into the blood through the very ducts intended to suck in the nutriment. Then we have sick headache, become dull, bilious, tongue coated, nervous, meals don't digest, and we feel miserable all over. So we must make our choice. We must live like primitive folks, else we must take artificial means to move the excess bile and waste matter out and out of the system.

The safest, most harmless and effective stomach, liver and bowel cleanser and regulator for men, women and children—is delicious Syrup of Figs, which doesn't irritate, gripe or weaken. Its effect is the effect of fruits. It is composed entirely of luscious figs, senna and aromatics. Don't think you are drugging yourself. Syrup of Figs can be constantly used without harm.

Ask your druggist for "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna," and see on the label that it is prepared by The California Fig Syrup Company. This is the only genuine—the old reliable. Refuse, with contempt, the so-called Fig Syrup imitations sometimes offered to deceive you.

mittal prayers at the grave were read by Rev. Fr. Curtin of St. Cecilia's church of Arlington. Mr. Danely of Cambridge was in charge of the burial.

HEALEY—The funeral of Mary Agnes Healey, beloved infant daughter of John F. and Delia Healey, took place yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the home of her parents, 43 Cedar street, and was largely attended. There were many beautiful floral tributes including spray with ribbon inscribed "Our Baby," from parents; basket, Mrs. Herubrook and Master Willie Herubrook; basket, Annie Campbell; spray, Miss Della Langdon and the Hannigan family; spray, with ribbon inscribed "Asleep," Mrs. Bridges; wreath, Miss Mary Jordan; spray, Patrick Clark; wreath, Mrs. Thomas Langdon and the Misses Mary and Sarah Fox; spray, Miss Margaret Smith. The burial was in the family lot in St. Patrick's cemetery under the direction of Undertakers J. F. O'Donnell & Sons.

SQUIRES—The funeral of Mrs. Mattie B. Squires took place this forenoon at 10 o'clock from the rooms of Undertaker, George W. Healey, 79 Branch street. The services were conducted by Rev. James M. Craig, pastor of the First Presbyterian church. Appropriate selections were sung by Mrs. Fred L. Roberts and Mrs. R. Edward Symonds. Burial was in the family lot in the Edison cemetery.

presents itself in the future I am sure you will see the necessity of providing proper protection to the public.

Very truly yours,
Francis A. Connor,
Inspector of Buildings.

The section reads as follows:

Section 52. Temporary coverings over sidewalks, walks and fences.

Whenever any new building fronting a street within the fire limits shall have attained the height of one story, or whenever it may become necessary to unroof or take down any buildings within the above described territory, or to perform any work thereon whereby any risk may be incurred to any person or persons passing the same, it shall be the duty of the party or parties erecting, unroofing, taking down or performing any work on such building or of the owner thereof, to erect a good and substantial covering over the sidewalk, at least six (6) feet wide and ten (10) feet high, to be approved by the inspector.

During the time of such occupation of the street for such building operations, the person or persons so occupying said street shall maintain and keep in repair both said temporary sidewalk and fence.

A sidewalk or passageway, at least three (3) feet wide, shall be kept in front of any building during the process of its construction, except as otherwise provided above.

And such temporary sidewalk shall be paid out around the space to be used for the materials to be employed in the erection of such building.

And such temporary sidewalk shall be at all times kept clear for the passage of persons over the same, except when materials are being handled over said sidewalk, and no person shall leave any material, tools, implements or machinery thereon.

Said temporary sidewalk shall be constructed of two (2) inch plank laid lengthwise on good and sufficient stepped timbers (3) feet apart.

The respective ends of said temporary sidewalk shall be laid even with the sidewalk to which it is connected.

And there shall be a fence four (4) feet high on the side of walk next to the enclosure.

PROTECT PUBLIC

Inspector Connor Writes to Contractors

The following letter which is self explanatory, has been sent out to the various contractors and builders in the city by the inspector of buildings:

Dear Sir:

Your attention is respectfully called to Section 52 of the building ordinance which defines the method to be used by owners and contractors in protecting the public during the erection, alterations or repair of buildings.

My reason for bringing this matter to your attention at this time is due to the fact that contractors, in the past, have felt that they never received proper notification of the necessity, during building operations, of roofing over the sidewalk when possible to do so.

Enclosed find copy of the section above referred to, which I trust you will read carefully and if the occasion

WHAT FASHIONABLE WOMEN ARE WEARING

SATIN MODEL, IRISH LACE TRIMMINGS.

THE smartest materials for spring costumes this season are eponge cloth, hopsacking and serge, with taffeta and bengaline silk for dressy toilets. The girl who has difficulty in bringing two ends to a meeting point has probably

Modes For Young Girls

THE patent leather belt, not more than an inch in width and both in white and in black, is playing a conspicuous part in the modes for girls. On linen and serge it is worn alto and it gives a very trim finish. It is seldom pulled in closely to the figure, but neither is it so loose as in the old "Buster Brown" styles.

A frock in pink linen for a smaller girl has an extra long tie of embroidered white batiste which reaches almost to the hem of the dress and has a little of the waist line through which a girlish black velvet ribbon appears to be tied in a bow.

Little, turned down collars of soft white batiste finish the necks of many of the colored frocks of summer stuffs for girls in their teens.

Young girls are affecting huge necklaces of thick beads, half an inch or so long, in yellow, blue or other shades. These necklaces hang almost to the waist line.

The smartest gloves for a young girl's wear are white lace with heavy black silk stitching in triple rows on the backs. Even elbow gloves show the black stitching, though not so thick.

New Umbrella Case

A novel umbrella case has just been brought out and promises to meet with favor, especially for traveling. It is built on very slim lines and the tightly rolled fabric fits smoothly into a silken covering, which fastens all the way from top to bottom with black snapers. This arrangement facilitates getting at one's umbrella when in a hurry, and the new case looks much neater than the other kind, which usually bulges.

Its full value. A kilted undershirt appearing from beneath a paphim shaped drapery represents one of the prettiest and most attractive expedients in the making of a new gown.

Even in the case of eponge cloth the rough surfaced material in dull, soft shades of clay color or café au lait can be made with kilts. This eponge, or eponge cloth, as the French call it, is rivaling silk in popularity for gowns and trappings.

Frings as a trimming for the gown popular has this become that on a charming gown of green eponge crystal beads were introduced in rows to give the effect of buttons. Horn buttons on tweed and serge costumes are just as much in vogue as ever, and a newer scheme is represented by those which are carried out in plaited strings with rough knots on the surface.

The costumes seen in the illustration, while not extreme, are very modish and smart and are what women of refined taste who follow the mode at a fashionable distance are wearing this of eponge and silk is a favorite, and when used with eponge it makes the fabric look more like a bath towel than ever, but wool lace that is equally used as a decoration for these gowns, is more in keeping with the rather rough nature of the material.

A costume of eponge as well as of hopsacking and serge never looks so well as when it is perfectly plain and unadorned, and this year many of the best looking of these suits have only button trimmings. Little sets of buttons, about five in a group, are often introduced on the skirt seams of a cloth costume, while bigger buttons play their part on the coat. The most popular of these is mother-of-pearl, and when a magpie creation is being treated these white pearl buttons are often rimmed with black.

Another great favorite is the glass button cut in glittering facets, and so spring. The little coat of dark blue silk serge pictured suggests the closer lines that are predicted in coat suits for next fall. The close fitting overskirt effect on the skirt is also very good, and the beauty of the model is enhanced by hand braided panels. An eponge collar of a pale putty color relieves the somberness of the jacket.

The vogue for buttons is shown in the treatment of small satin covered buttons applied in two rows from the knee to skirt hem on one of the suits illustrated.

A Persian patterned foulard suit in shades of dull blue, blush pink and soft gray is one of the daintiest things sent over recently from a French dressmaker who may always be counted upon to turn out something different from everything else, but conforming perfectly with the accepted fashionable lines of the season. CATHERINE TALBOT.

When the Lamp Is Lit

MUSINGS OF ELINOR HITE

Skipping For Beauty.
"YOU will never guess what I have been doing every morning for the last week," said a girl to me recently. "I've been going into a corner of the garden and skipping."

"Skipping?" I exclaimed. "For goodness' sake, what for?"

"Well, I'll tell you. My doctor ordered it. I was feeling so rundown, and my skin was really in an awful state. Besides, you know, between you and me, I was getting stout every day, and it worried me terribly."

Knowing that there are other girls who dread becoming stout, I will pass along the skipping instructions followed out so successfully by the patient who told me.

Like all other exercises calculated to do any permanent good, skipping must be done regularly. It will not do to spend ten minutes skipping one morning, then omit the exercise for several days. All the good in the world will be done if ten minutes of the exercise are taken about the same time each day.

Get a rope of ordinary clothesline thickness and long enough to let the arms be stretched out while you skip, with head as erect as possible.

Begin with the rope at your heels, bringing it over your head so that your arms bend easily, just as you see schoolgirls skipping in the street.

Next place the rope at your toes and bring it up over your head and so on round and round. This is called skipping backward and is a greater strain on the muscles than the first movement. It also brings certain muscles into play that are not developed in the other play.

Stretch out your arms stiff and use as far as possible only the hands and wrists in turning the rope. This movement has a marvelous effect in beautifying the shape of the hands, wrists and arms.

One thing the skipping girl was very anxious to impress upon me was that the skipper should always skip on her toes and never allow her heels to touch the ground.

The doctor's orders, too, were to acquire as "springy" a step as possible. Vibration of the muscles, it seems, is obtained in this way.

Another hint she gave me was always to take an intermediate step between each turn of the rope.

Children do it, but grown-up people when they skip usually omit this little extra step and therefore lose half the benefit of the exercise.

Of course skipping outdoors does most good, but when this is impossible the exercise may be taken in some spot indoors where pictures and ornaments will not suffer from the beauty cure.

A Rival of Taffeta

It was predicted that taffeta would have formidable rivals in the field of fashion, and already this has proved true, especially in the realms of tailoring.

There is a shot bengaline that looks extremely well and has the merit of being just a trifle warmer than taffeta, although there is a certain costly variety of the latter, really only exploited by the dressmakers who can command a price, that has quite a weighty feel and looks as if it would wear forever, perhaps a doubtful quality in these days.

A REALLY NEW IDEA IN BAGS

THERE is a really new bag come into existence, and when one sees it for the first time one wonders that it was not thought of long ago. It is balloon shaped when carried over the arm and flat when it is placed on a flat surface. The bag has a round cardboard bottom, with the linen or other material of which it is made gathered over an embroidery ring at the middle and again at the top. These rings, by the way, are put in with casings that are hemmed to the outside material. Another round piece of cardboard covered with the same material and tied with cords at one side and fastened with button and loops at the other makes a cover. There are long cord handles fastened at the sides of the top. The embroidery ring used in the middle is two sizes at least larger than the one at the top, and the one at the top is a size larger than the bottom one. This makes the bag pretty full at top and bottom and provides ample room for ordinary needlework or for small pieces of soiled linen.

IT'S VERY NATTY

OUTING HAT OF BLUE STRAW.
THIS becoming little outing hat pictured is of navy blue tagal straw. It is simplicity itself, being trimmed with a primp bow of blue velvet and a navy blue stickup.

The Folding Nursery

WHAT is exactly what it is—a whole nursery within the compact space of a child's crib, made from white enameled iron with a swinging bed, so placed within its frame that it may be pushed under an ordinary bed out of the way in daytime and in such juxtaposition to the mother during the night that she need not move from her rest in order to care for her little one. This new nursery is easily moved from place to place and when used in summer there is a heavy netting which insures perfect comfort for the child. Every part of the bed and the bedding is sanitary, and there is a sanitary box attached to the side of the bed to hold all food receptacles.

Life itself brings philosophy to bear the big sorrows. But somehow years nor experience seems to give us the courage to bear bravely the little pangs of every day's sordid experience.

Copies of Antique Pearl Jewelry

WEAR YOUR SEED PEARL JEWELRY AGAIN.

GET out your seed pearls that have been tucked away for years, for this once popular jewelry is in vogue again and is appearing in delightful forms.

While the new designs are copies of the old French pieces, they never have the association of antiques, so dealers in seed pearl jewelry are making a specialty of remodeling and repairing the old brooches, bracelets and necklaces handed down from an earlier generation.

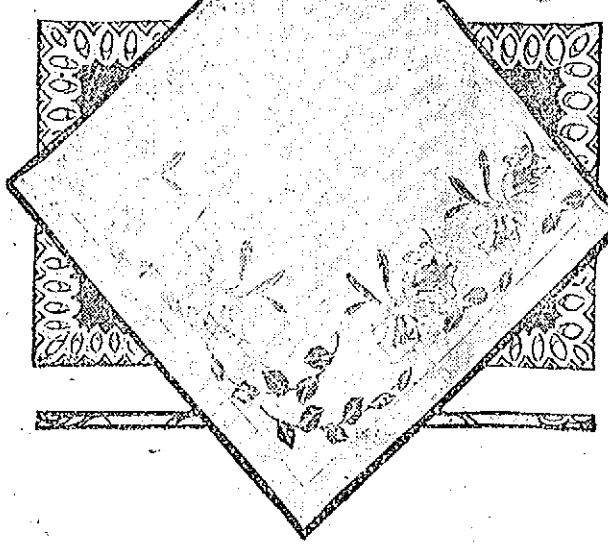

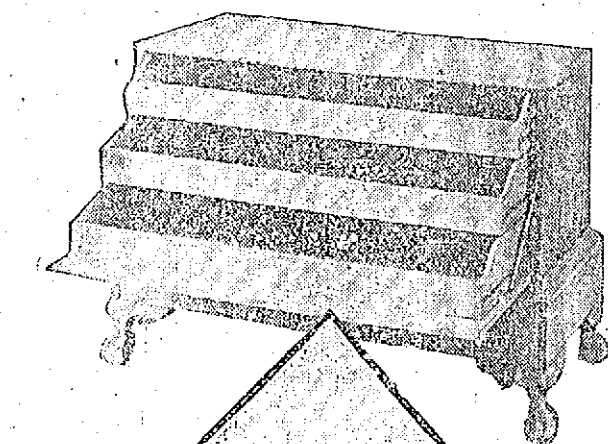

If your jewel box reveals no treasures some of the modern effects are lovely. Brooches—oval, round and star shaped—are the size of an old fashioned watch or slightly smaller, and as a concession to modern tastes there are fascinating bar pins of various lengths, formed of connecting rings of the seed pearls, some with round cluster brooches in the center.

Lorgnette and watch chains, of double or triple rows of pearls are studded at intervals with oval or round clusters.

Two hand bracelets have recently been made into a necklace, the joining being concealed by a fringe of the pearls with small drops. Remarkably quaint, too, are the long earrings of seed pearls. These are rather trying, however, to women who are not blessed with good complexions and regular features.

Table Napery For the Summer Cottage

DOILIES IN EYELET DESIGN AND LINEN CHEST.

FOR the luncheon or summer cottage the shops are showing linen cloths and napkins to carry out the color scheme of the decoration with colored floral borders. Bold reds, greens, blues—in fact, any color to carry out the color scheme of the decoration is used. The linen chest shown in the appended illustration is of solid walnut, with little lavender pads in each of its three drawers.

IT'S RHUBARB SEASON

IN the spring it is well for the housewife to serve in her daily menu acid fruits and vegetables that act as spring cleansers to the system. One of the most palatable of these fruits is rhubarb, which now is so plentiful. The following ways of serving this plant are somewhat different from the average recipes:

Rhubarb Charlotte.—Cut into small pieces enough rhubarb to measure one quart. Melt one-third of a cup of butter and pour over it one quart of crumbs from the center of a stale loaf of bread and stir until well mixed. Butter a baking dish and fill with alternate layers of crumbs, rhubarb and sugar. Add a slight grating of nutmeg, cover with a top layer of crumbs, dot with bits of butter, cover and bake about three-quarters of an hour.

Rhubarb Pie.—If you have fresh young stalks of rhubarb, use it for the pie with the skin on, but if it is tough or old be sure to remove the skin. Cut the rhubarb into pieces about half an inch long and after carefully washing, the stalks sprinkle over them some sugar and place them in a deep pie plate lined with flaky pie crust which has been slightly dusted with flour. To a quart of the rhubarb cut up as directed add one large cup of sugar. Place the rhubarb thus sweetened in the pie at least an inch deep and then sprinkle with flour and a saltspoonful of salt and flavor with a dash of nutmeg if this flavoring is liked. Put on the top crust and pinch together. No water should be put in the pie, as the rhubarb is very juicy and furnishes all the moisture necessary.

Rhubarb Cup.—Take about five large stalks of rhubarb, peel them, cut in pieces and cook in a double boiler without water. Sweeten the rhubarb well when it is done, then have ready one-quarter of a cup of rice that has been boiled in one cup of water until soft and dry. Mix the rhubarb and rice well together, heating the mixture thoroughly. Mold in cups that have been slightly buttered and set on the ice. Just before serving turn them out on a large dish and pour around them a soft custard.

Seasonable Window Curtains

FEW people show originality about the arrangement of their window curtains, but now is the time to furnish up one's ideas and hang fresh curtains for summer in place of those that have been hanging all winter.

Plain white muslin or lace window curtains are far too common, and they do not suit every room. Often a tremendous difference in the appearance of the room would be made by a different treatment, including a touch of the right color in curtains.

Wash silk is an excellent material. It does not hold the dust and consequently keeps clean longer than cotton fabrics. It blunders well and does not look dragged and limp in damp weather. The cost is very little more than for ordinary muslin or fancy serim, and "day" silk can now be obtained in lovely colorings.

The palest pink, blue or lilac may be chosen with good effect for a plain papered room, and yellow curtains in a dark room increase the sunshine.

With a six-to-eight inch paper in pale colors the curtains might be of silk with a tiny old world pattern of pink rosebuds or wee blue and mauve flowers. This looks quaint, pretty and distinctive, but remember it is quite unsuitable for a room with floral paper.

For the last named, inner curtains of white or cream silk look best, accompanied by long curtains to harmonize with the predominating shade in the paper. The color of the carpet or rug must also be taken into consideration, as a mistake here often spoils the effect of an otherwise charming room.

Where money is limited a heavy make of plain casement cloth is both artistic and serviceable for the outer curtains.

Green is not always a wise choice, although it harmonizes well with almost every color scheme, because it quickly fades to a dull sage brown that is anything but desirable.

Blue green or blue gray answers better, and rose color or crimson is cheerful and well as useful, while a bright shade of golden brown can hardly be beaten for artistic effect and good wearing qualities.

ARBITRATION BOARD

May be Necessary to Settle the Engineers' Strike

NEW YORK, April 27.—United States sub-committee of railway managers Commissioner of Labor Neil and on Monday will meet the committee of the engineers. The belief is that the whole dispute will ultimately be settled by an arbitration board but the railroad and the engineers are said to be not in accord on how this board would be made up. Neither side will not prove unproductive but decline to discuss the present situation other than to say that progress is being made. The two mediators met the conferees again this morning with the negotiations.

ATTACHMENT IS OFF

Local Banks Vindicated by the Superior Court

The attachment of $800,000 entered by Della Phelps of Boston against the Lowell Institution for Savings and the Union National bank of this city, has been dissolved by Judge Crosby after a hearing at the equity session in Boston yesterday, when Judge Frederick Fisher appeared for the Lowell banks. The case is the outgrowth of proceedings which have been before the courts for several years. Miss Phelps on the death of her father in 1902 was appointed executrix. Five years later a guardian ad litem was appointed for her by Justice Braley, and later, when she protested the continuance of the guardianship, a master was appointed to act on the question whether a guardian was still needed, and he decided in the affirmative. In 1910 when she protested the court approved the finding of the master.

Judge Fisher's contention was that if the attachment remained it would cause inconvenience to the banks which have to supply the pay roll of local mills.

The claims of Miss Phelps, said Judge Fisher, cannot involve any large amount and when tried out by the courts it may be found that instead of the banks owing her, she may owe the banks. The whole matter will be settled by due process of law.

The decree of the court is as follows:

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS. Superior Court. Middlesex, ss.

I hereby certify that in the action wherein Della Clark Phelps of Boston in the County of Suffolk is plaintiff, and Lowell Institution for Savings of Lowell in said County of Middlesex is defendant, and Union National bank of said Lowell is trustee, returnable to this court on the first Monday of May, A. D. 1912, the attachment both of real estate and personal property of said Lowell Institution for Savings, in the hands and possession of said Union National bank by trustee process which were attached therein on the nineteenth day of March and the twenty-second day of April 1912, respectively, in the sum of six hundred thousand dollars, has been this day dissolved by order of the court.

In testimony whereof I hereto set my hand and affix the seal of said Superior Court this twenty-sixth day of April, A. D. 1912.

Wm. C. Dillingham,
Clerk Superior court.

Y. M. H. A. MEMBERS

AND

HEBREWS OF LOWELL

A regular meeting of the Y. M. H. A. will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at 185 Merrimack st. Mr. Leo Lyons of the Boston Globe and Mr. Samuel Markell, chairman of Chelsea, will address the meeting.

C. F. KEYES, Auctioneer
Office, Old Boston & Maine Depot, Storehouse and Commission Rooms, Green Street. Telephone 1435.

Next Saturday, May 4, at 2.30 O'Clock

I shall offer for sale a very choice building site located on Pleasant street, being the third lot from Rogers street. It is the only unimproved lot left on this end of the street. It has a frontage of about 40 feet with an area of 3547 square feet. It was my intention when I purchased this lot to build a home for myself, but now that I have taken a position in Peabody I have decided to dispose of this lot on Saturday next to whomever will bid the most for it. The location is an excellent one, smooth paved streets and curbs. The neighborhood is one where most everyone owns their home. Terms: $100 to be paid to the auctioneer as soon as struck off. Make all inquiries of auctioneer in charge.

JOHN DOHERTY, Peabody, Mass.

Next Saturday, May 4, at 3 O'Clock

Two-tenement house, stable and about 5500 square feet of land at 74 South Wilder street. Having purchased a farm and as I am about to go and live on it I have decided to sell my present home, which consists of a 2 1/2-story house, having two tenements and about 1500 square feet of land. The house consists of two tenements of five rooms each. One tenement and stable I occupy myself; this would easily yield a rental of $15 a month; the other tenement rents at the present time for $10 a month. The lot is well elevated and dry, with good street frontage for improvement. It is situated but a few steps from the new Washington school, has all city conveniences and is an ideal place for a person who has but little money to invest. Terms: $200 to be paid at time and place of sale. Make all inquiries of the auctioneer, C. F. KEYES, who is in full charge.

Next Saturday, May 4, at 4 O'Clock

Two-tenement house and about 1800 square feet of land at 77 West Fourth street, Centralville. Having made arrangements to move into the country I have decided to sell my present home, which consists of a 2 1/2-story house, having two tenements and about 1500 square feet of land. There are five rooms with each tenement and rents for $10 each. The house is in first class condition inside and out, has gas throughout, the best of sewerage and water service. Now, then, I think it is a grand opportunity for some man of moderate means to make a purchase where he can have his own tenement and an income of another. I am sure you will agree with me after you have looked the property over that it is in perfect shape

3 Boats Near Where Titanic Sank

CAPTAIN MOORE

Says Two Steamers and Schooner Were Near The Titanic

WASHINGTON, April 27.—Two steamers and a schooner were only a short distance away from the Titanic when she sank, according to the testimony of Captain James N. Moore of the steamer Mount Temple today before the senate committee investigating the tragedy. Ice was the barrier that held back vessels hurrying to the rescue.

The Mount Temple intercepted the Titanic's call for help, Captain Moore said, and immediately he turned his ship's course toward the crippled liner. On his way he raised the lights of a schooner within a few miles of the scene of the tragedy and coming from that direction. When day broke to disclose a great field of ice ahead, the Mount Temple discovered a tramp steamer close by. The identity of neither schooner nor tramp was fixed.

Captain Moore read a long list of messages from the Titanic intercepted by the Mount Temple's operator. It was virtually a complete record of the wireless appeals sent out by the doomed vessel, and Senator Smith complimented the witness for his thoughtfulness in bringing it.

BODIES WILL ARRIVE MONDAY

HALIFAX, N. S., April 27.—The cableship Mackay-Bennett, hearing the bodies of the Titanic victims which have been recovered, will not arrive here until Monday. This was confirmed this morning in a wireless message received from the steamer. It was signed simply "Mackay-Bennett" and was as follows:

"Confirm bodies of Astor and Straus on board. Due Monday with 189 bodies."

As 205 bodies have been picked up, it is assumed that 16 were so mutilated that burial at sea was necessary.

TAFT AND "TEDDY"

Will Make Lowell Their Battleground Next Monday

President William Howard Taft and Theodore Roosevelt will come to Lowell Monday afternoon and will tell us what they think of one another. The fact that they were coming to Lowell was published in The Sun yesterday but the program was not complete at that time and is yet subject to alterations.

President Taft, according to present arrangements, will reach here from Lawrence at 5:55 o'clock in the afternoon, and will speak from the bandstand on the South common. Should the weather be unfavorable he will speak in the Lowell Opera House. Congressman Ames will preside at the meeting and the president will remain in Lowell until 6:40.

Col. Roosevelt, according to present plans, will come from Lawrence and will arrive at the Middlesex street depot at 12 o'clock, noon. He will remain half an hour or so and the Lowell Roosevelt committee, William N. Osgood, chairman, is planning to give the colonel a big reception. One of the committee said today that a band would be engaged and the colonel will be given a musical welcome. The committee hopes that Mr. Roosevelt will be able to stay long enough to make a speech on the South common, and if this should happen the old South common will be the battleground on Monday.

President Taft has not been heard at length in Lowell since his visit as a guest of the Lowell Board of Trade a few years ago, while Mr. Roosevelt made a short speech at the Middlesex street station a week ago. In view of the fact that the president has gone into the ring after Teddy's hat the scrap is getting good and hot, and what they will have to say will undoubtedly be quite interesting.

RECALL OF JUDGES WAR IN PARAGUAY

Denounced by Archbishop Ireland Government Warships Boarded in Speech at Galena, Ill. by the Revolutionists

GALENA, Ill., April 27.—Declaring his confidence in the permanency of American democracy and its certainty to overcome the perils which beset it, Archbishop Ireland spoke today at the Great celebration, denouncing the recall of judges and judicial decisions and upholding a representative system of government. The archbishop spoke of various proposed reforms, of which he said the most fatal was the recall, "especially the recall of the judiciary." He also condemned socialism.

On the political problem the archbishop declared that the main question was how are the people to govern, whether directly or through representatives acting under constitutional limitations.

He sketched the framing of the constitution, and spoke in part as follows: "Stability of legislation and law is the vital principle of social order, of continuous economic progress. What becomes of this stability when a small percentage of voters may at their caprice suspend decrees of legislation, call for alterations in existing laws, propose as projects of law their whims and fancies? It is the road to social revolution. Into it we may at any moment be cast by a small minority of the people—often the precise minority which least deserves the protective hand of government.

"No greater peril to the institutions of democracy, to the permanency of social order could well be imagined than the legalizing of the recall of the judiciary." The archbishop declared the difference between the recall of judges and that of judicial decisions to be one of words and that the judge whose decision was rejected by the popular vote was practically rejected himself.

REPORTED STRIKE

SAID TO BE ONLY A MISUNDERSTANDING

Upon inquiry at the office of the American Mason Safety Tread company office this afternoon it was learned that the reported strike at that mill was simply a misunderstanding, and that the 22 employees who went out Friday returned to work today. It was reported, however, that all the employees of the company went out, requesting that they receive more pay and one of those who came out yesterday said today that he did not hear of any settlement.

BUENOS AYRES, April 27.—Civil war has again broken out in Paraguay. Telegrams from Asuncion today state that four government warships bombarded the revolutionists who are commanded by former President Jara at Villa Encarnacion. The fire returned by the revolutionists was so well directed that the warships in a damaged condition were compelled to retire.

HELD AN AUCTION

At the Market Building This Forenoon

John Regis, the well known Greek, was the highest bidder on the articles that were sold at auction at the Market building this morning. About three months ago the police made a raid at one of the coffee houses in Market street where there was gambling going on. The officers took everything in the place. The articles were stored in the basement of the Market building and today Deputy Sheriff George F. Stiles auctioned off the articles. The latter included 45 chairs, 3 tables, 6 mirrors, 6 pipes, a cigar case filled with cigars, cigarettes and tobacco. There was some lively bidding, but when Mr. Regis bid $44.50 no other bids were received and he was awarded the goods. He sent for an express wagon and while he was awaiting the arrival of the latter he stood on guard of his goods.

ANSWER THIS TODAY Mr. Roosevelt!

You are a candidate for a third term as President. You are seeking nomination from the Republican National Convention:—

Will you abide by the decision of that convention and support its nominee?

If you are successful in this campaign will you be a candidate for a fourth term? In case this answer is "No," will it have the same meaning as your statement on November 4th, 1904: "Under no circumstances will I again be a candidate?"

JAMES LACKAYE AS LITTLE JIMMY WELLINGTON IN "EX-CURSIONIST"

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

Enveloped in the atmosphere of success consequent upon its all-season run at the Gaiety theatre in New York, "Excursionist," the farce by Rupert Hughes, which has proved one of the most successful of the recent productions made by Henry W. Savage, will come to the Opera House today, matinee and night. The play will be performed by a cast which, individually and as an organization is said to distinctly reflect the unusual skill of Mr. Savage in the selection of players best able to extract the greatest possible values from particular parts and situations. The company roster includes the names of many actors who are well known to local playgoers, by reason of their previous appearances here, notable among them being James Lackaye, Joseph Yanner, John J. Kennedy, William V. Stuntz, Harry J. Lane, Harry Linkey, Galver Herbert, Charles Chappelle, William Wabersight, Leo Cooper, W. D. Heller, Frederick Howard, Geraldine O'Brien, Blanche Douglas, Geraldine Williams, Marguerite Rand, Lucille Lemmon, Ethel Weir and Snowbeams. As a production "Excursionist" is a distinct novelty. All of the action takes place during a trip from Chicago to the Pacific coast, and as a result the stage pictures show the interiors of a Pullman sleeper and library car, which instruments of modern journeying have been reproduced with a fidelity that is amazing.

The stage settings so nearly approach the actual that it is said they could, if equipped with trucks and wheels, cease to be merely reproductions and become railroad coaches in fact.

BILLIE BURKE

Miss Billie Burke comes to the Opera House Thursday, May 2. Her play this season is "The Runaway," a comedy by Michael Morton, who wrote "My Wife," the piece in which she was seen as John Drew's leading woman a few years ago. In this piece she has the role of a little, eighteen-year-old French country girl with artistic talent and a will of her own. She undertakes to paint a picture of some little bare-legged girls dancing in the orchard. "Nymphs dancing in a Sylvan Glade"—that sort of thing, you know. Unfortunately she chooses a Sunday afternoon for the task and her maiden aunt is so shocked that they decide she must marry at once. The only available husband is a gawky youth of the village and Colette—that is the little girl impersonated by Miss Burke—reels and runs away. The play tells the story of her subsequent adventures. Needless to say, they are amusing and entertaining. The supporting company includes C. Aubrey Smith, an English actor of sterling quality, George Hawell, Morton Selten, Edwin Alexander, Jane Evans and a dozen others.

KEITH'S LOWELL THEATRE

Manager Stevens is doing great picking in the selection of bills these days for he is certainly selecting some novel attractions. Next week's bill is headed by George Felix and the Barry girls in a singing and dancing comedy act. Felix is a clever and well known comedian and all one needs to say of the Barry sisters is that they are of the celebrated Barry family, the head of which was the late Billy Barry, one of the foremost Irish comedians of his day at Barry and Fay in "The Rising Generation." The Four Florets are acrobatic comedians. They are among the leaders in the acrobatic line but by way of diversion introduce some good comedy into their act. A beautiful story of the romantic west is cleverly acted by Charles Keene and a competent company in "Sheriff Bob." It is a love story with those thrilling features that characterize western romances. The play requires first class dramatic work on the part of its interpreters and Mr. Keene and his company possess the requirements. It may be that the lion will lie down with the lamb but who ever heard of a cat performing with a bird without fatal results to the bird. The cat and the bird together with the rabbit do stunts on the stage at Keith's this week, for the strangest combination of dumb performance ever offered the public is Keith's animal entertainers, dogs, cats, birds and rabbits. Nat Lein, who has done his wonderful card stunts before princes and potentates as well as the common people of every civilized country on earth, comes here direct from Boston after a tour of the world. Four times he has made the King of England sit up and take notice, and he has made a world-wide reputation on plain every day playing cards. The Hallsworths, exponents of banjo melody, will make the southern instrument twang as it is seldom heard in these parts. Rail is a juggler and he juggles everything that is juggable and he juggles as one of the greatest jugglers before the public today. Carter Taylor presents a laughable one act farce entitled "Camp Rest" and it is a scream.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

"The Temple Players," presenting high-class musical comedy, will be the stellar attraction in next week's bill at the Merrimack Square theatre. This aggregation of entertainers, fifteen in number, gives one of the most delightful musical offerings in present-day vaudeville. Miss Grace Hawthorne, soloist, and Thomas Malcolm, tenor, are the ones on whose shoulders the brunt of the work falls, and they reflect, in their work, the efforts of true artists. The penny ballet introduces one of the several pleasing features in connection with the presentation. This company is completing a long and successful engagement on the scenic circuit, including visits at Boston, Cambridge and Malden. For the coming week the bill will be programmed "Scotch Week," and the several numbers to be featured will have a distinct Scottish tinge. For the week of May 6 "Popular Week" will be introduced.

Among the others who will contribute in making the week's run uncommonly successful are Morley Johnson, "The Man in the Gold Shoes," a comedian whose ability is well known in all theatrical centres of the east. He sings, tells stories and talks himself into favor on all occasions.

Prof. Karl and his trained dogs, gives one of the best animal acts in vaudeville. One of his dogs amazes a billiard cue and does many other wonderful tricks. Grace Livingston, vocalist, will be heard in some of the latest and best illustrated songs and Mr. and Mrs. Danny Mann, presenting "Mandy Hawkins," recognized as one of the most wholesome and sweetest stories of New England life, are sure to share in the liberal recognition which the entire bill will be accorded during the week's engagement. This sketch will be given daily at 2:45, 5:15 and 8:45 o'clock.

The photo-plays for the first three days of the week will introduce some of the brightest and best productions by the leading manufacturers of this and foreign countries. Sunday's serial offering, which begins at 3 o'clock and 7 and 9 o'clock, will include eight acts of refined vaudeville. The Cosmopolitan Four, members of Donald Brian's "Stren" company, now playing at the Colonial theatre, Boston, will feature the bill. Hear them and be pleased.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

Tonight is the last night of the Hatfield Stock company at the Academy of Music after a run of five solid months. The sketch that is being played by them is entitled "The man who looks like me" and is pleasing, large audiences at every performance. Sunday, however, is the big show of the year, for fifty of the best girls, who last evening gave their big show in Associated hall have contracted to repeat that performance at both afternoon and evening sessions. This crew of girls have been training faithfully for a number of weeks under the direction of Mr. William Gilmore, pianist at the Academy, and their show last evening was of sufficient calibre to warrant presenting at any theatre in the state. An extra big show for the coming week.

TITANIC DISASTER

CAPTAIN MOORE CALLED AND TELLS TITANIC'S POSITION
WASHINGTON, April 27.—The committee inquiring into the Titanic disaster today decided to subpoena for next week H. M. S. Smith, chief engineer of the Marconi company, and Business Agent, Duttonley of that company, Operator Brice of the Titanic, who is in a hospital in New York and J. A. Hovey, a wireless operator at Taunton, Mass.

Samuel Goldenberg and several others from New York representing the committee of Titanic survivors, arrived in Washington today. Chairman Smith said he came to testify as to the whereabouts of Captain Smith of the Titanic and J. Bruce Ismay, managing director of the International Mercantile Marine on Sunday evening before the accident.

Second Office Lightholder of the Titanic was recalled. Senator Smith questioned him as to his knowledge of the crew of the ship. Mr. Lightholder said he knew them all. "Do you know Louis Klein?" asked the senator. "No, sir. There was a Klein, a second class barber, on board. I knew him personally." "Did he survive?" "No, sir." Louis Klein gave out a statement in Cleveland, Ohio, making sensational charges. He was brought here to testify and promptly disappeared. Lightholder said he saw Klein in Senator Smith's office and he was not the barber. The officer then was excused.

Capt. Moore Called
Capt. James Moore, commander of the steamer Mount Temple, which was supposed to have been almost within hailing distance of the Titanic on the day that ship went down, next took the stand. He said he had been at sea for 32 years, 27 years in the North Atlantic ocean.

"Are you familiar with tea and iceberg?" asked Senator Smith. "Yes, sir; very familiar," said the captain.

"An iceberg may be composed of anything. It is ice broken off from the land in the Arctic regions and may be composed of land, rocks and most anything that it would pick up in its course," explained the captain. Senator Smith sought this information because of some levity caused by a question he asked several days ago as to what an iceberg was composed of and the witness answered, "Ice."

"How do icebergs look on a starlit night?" asked Senator Smith. "White, sir. In fact they are luminous." The night of the Titanic disaster the sky was studded thick with stars. "Where was your ship on Sunday night, April 14?" "We were in latitude 41:55 longitude, 51:14 at 12:30 a. m. ship's time." "At which you would tell the committee just what happened on that Sunday night and Monday morning?" "At 1:30 a. m.," Captain Moore said, "I was awakened by the steward with a message from the Marconi operator of my ship which said that the Titanic was sending out a C. Q. D. message. Here is the message: 'Titanic sending

"This was a message the operator picked up."

"What reply did you send?" "None, whatever, sir; we did not want to stop those distress messages going out and the operator said the Titanic couldn't hear him. I blew the whistle at once and ordered the course toward the Titanic's position. I dressed and went to the chart room. We steamed up and sailed east by compass. We turned right toward the Titanic. Then I went to the chief engineer, told him about the Titanic and to push up the fires, wake up all extra firemen and to get them busy. I said: 'If necessary give the firemen a lot of rum, sir.'"

"A lot of rum, sir?" Captain Moore replied. "To wake them up and spur them to action."

49 Miles From Titanic
"At the time you got this message from the Titanic how far distant did you figure the vessel was from you?" "About 49 miles."

The senator asked what speed the Mount Temple made toward the Titanic. Captain Moore said: "A little more than 11 knots."

"About 3 a. m. we ran into our first ice," continued the witness, "and we immediately doubled the look-out watch."

"At 3:25, ship's time, we had to stop. At that time we figured we were about 14 miles distant from where the Titanic signalled."

The Mount Temple was again delayed by a small schooner, the green light of which halted the Mount Temple. For a moment the captain got range of the white masthead lights and they disappeared.

"The schooner was between the Mount Temple and the Titanic."

"How much nearer the Titanic was that schooner than you were?" "Oh, it could not have been more than a mile and half from me."

MANY BRITISH SAILORS

TO BE EXAMINED YET
WASHINGTON, April 27.—Captain Thomas Moore of the Canadian Pacific R. R. Co.'s steamship Mount Temple arrived in Washington today to testify before the senate committee inquiry into the Titanic disaster. Passengers on the Mount Temple, which was in the vicinity of the Titanic on the fateful night of Sunday, April 14, have declared they saw the Titanic's lights and signals.

Operator Cottam of the Carpathia testified he did not believe the Mount Temple got the Titanic's wireless signals of distress because the operator of the Mount Temple had given him "Good night" shortly after ten o'clock that night.

The committee has yet to examine a number of the British sailors who survived the Titanic wreck and contemplate putting some of them on the stand today. A Crawford, one of the stewards, who was examined in New York, also is awaiting recall. J. Bruce Ismay, managing director of the White Star line, who has been waiting in Washington five days attending the hearings from beginning to end each day, still is waiting to testify. He said today that he was not so impatient since the testimony of 25 survivors of the crew had been taken in one day by the arrangement whereby each senator spent nearly a whole night examining them. He expected to take the stand within a few days.

The committee does not wish to recall him until it has cleared up all the points it can through surviving members of the crew and those on ships known to have been in the Titanic's vicinity the night of the catastrophe. Chairman Smith reiterated today the statement that no more passengers or survivors would be heard until the officers, members of the crew and crews of other boats have testified. The four surviving officers of the Titanic are still held. Fifth Officer Lowe is contemplating demanding of Senator Smith upon what information he based his interrogation of him as to his sobriety.

HIS TITLE CLEAR

No Civil Service Examination for Duckworth

Thomas Duckworth, who was elected superintendent of cemeteries by the municipal council some time ago, will not have to take a civil service examination, the civil service commission having decided that the position is not within the classified civil service. Commissioner Cummings wrote to the commission for information, stating all the details relative to the position and he has received the following, in reply:

April 25, 1912.
Lawrence, Cummings, Esq., Alderman-in-charge, Public Cemeteries, Lowell, Mass.

Dear Sir: Your letter of the 24th instant, in relation to the position of superintendent of cemeteries in Lowell, has received the consideration of the commission and upon your statement the commission has decided that this position is the head of a principal department, within the meaning of the term used in section 9 of chapter 10 of the revised laws, and therefore, is not within the classified civil service. In consequence, the commission will take no further action in the matter.

Very truly yours,

THE REFERENDUM BILL POLITICS WARM UP

Favored in the House by a Vote of 87 to 48

Democrats Show Interest in the Coming Primaries

BOSTON, April 27.—The proposed constitutional amendment authorizing the referendum was reconsidered by the house yesterday and was substituted for an adverse report of the committee on constitutional amendments on a rising vote, 87 to 48. Thursday the adverse report was accepted without debate.

There was vigorous opposition to the substitution. Representative Underhill of Somerville in arguing against it stated that his experience has been that legislators give little thought to matters to which the referendum is attached, and that the effect of such a proposition would be that great questions would be passed through the legislature without careful study.

Representative Wolcott of Milton opposed the measure. He declared the constitution at present permitted the legislature to refer any matter to the people of any district, the idea being that on important local questions the people will take sufficient interest to study them and decide correctly. In state-wide referendum, however, he said, no one except the special interests would watch the measure, and people who did vote would probably be misinformed on the matter.

An amendment offered by Representative Underhill, providing that not more than five questions shall be referred to the people in any year was defeated.

The special message of Governor Foss on railroad development, which accompanied his bill providing for the consolidation of the Boston & Maine and the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroads with improvements which may cost $100,000,000, was referred to the committee on railroads and metropolitan affairs, sitting jointly.

The bill providing for the punishment of officers and agents of railroad corporations who violate the laws relative to consolidation was passed to be engrossed without debate.

The bill providing for a tax upon transfers of stock was rejected by a roll-call vote of 108 to 71.

Without debate the bill providing that the names of candidates for United States senators shall be placed upon the official ballot at the state election was ordered to a third reading.

The Dean bill providing for a state tax on incomes was postponed until Wednesday.

The automobile horn bill was defeated, 59 to 68.

The resolve providing for an investigation of the sanitary condition of the Charles river from Watertown to Newton Upper Falls was passed to be engrossed.

The house admitted for consideration a petition of the steamship lines using Boston harbor, asking that pilot boats be equipped with auxiliary power.

Up to within a day or two little or no interest has been manifested in the coming presidential primaries by the democrats, the Taft and Roosevelt partisans having all the fun to themselves. Congressman Ames, who has been out of the blue light for a long time has suddenly returned home to take a good healthy kick at Col. Roosevelt's hat which it appears he did only last evening at the several Taft rallies. The Roosevelt supporters, under the management of William N. Good, are confident that Teddy will make a showing at least in Congressmen Ames' home town. At present the republican voter of Lowell has practically made up his mind as to which of the two candidates for president he desires, but ask the ordinary democrat who his choice may be and almost invariably his answer will be: "I haven't given the matter a thought."

A Wilson Missionary

Yesterday, however, announcement was made to the effect that a rally on behalf of the candidacy of Woodrow Wilson will be held in Huntington hall and simultaneously a gentleman named John J. Gifford of Trenton, N. J. appeared in town and circulated among well known democrats in behalf of Gov. Wilson. Mr. Gifford called upon Mayor O'Donnell and spoke in glowing terms of the great record made by the governor of New Jersey. He then called upon Chairman Cornelius E. Cronin of the democratic city committee and the president of the local Woodrow Wilson club. Mr. Gifford felt confident that the Wilson supporters will predominate in Boston. Since then the local friends of Hon. James H. Vahey and ex-Congressman Keltner have been getting busy in this city and also the friends of Frank J. Donahue of Boston with the result that there is some democratic interest displayed after all. There are eight delegates at large to be elected, one of whom is Humphrey O'Sullivan, who undoubtedly will get all the democratic votes of the city.

The sample ballot of the democratic party resembles a patent medicine circular rather than a ballot and from its appearance the near-sighted voter won't have a chance. Owing to the small dimensions of the ballot and the number of names on it the type used is very small and the spaces reserved for the voters is exceedingly small. The voter has 15 names from which to select eight delegates-at-large and the candidates are as follows: Frank J. Donahue of Boston, pledged to preference of democrats; E. Garry Brown of Brockton for Eugene X. Foss; John W. Coughlin of Fall River, for Foss; John F. Fitzgerald of Boston, for Foss; William P. Hayes of Springfield, for Foss; Charles J. Martel for Foss; Humphrey O'Sullivan of Lowell, for Foss; Charles B. Strecker of Brookline, for Foss; David I. Walsh of Fitchburg, for Foss; Henry F. Burt of Taunton, for Woodrow Wilson; Henry T. Schaefer of Boston, favorable to Foss; William O. Dedham primary preference; John P. Sweeney of Methuen, unpledged; James H. Vahey of Watertown, pledged to Foss; John A. Keltner of Boston, for Foss. There are 11 candidates for alternate delegates-at-large, eight to be chosen.

There are four candidates for district delegate from this district, two of whom are to be nominated. As they appear on the ballot their names are as follows: John P. S. Mahoney of Lawrence, pledged to Foss; J. Joseph O'Connor of Lowell, unpledged; James E. Donohue of Lawrence, unpledged. The name of one candidate district alternate appears, Dr. William J. Collins of this city being the candidate.

The Preferential Ballot

The voter is given an opportunity to express his personal choice of the candidate for president, on the ballot and the names of Champ Clark and Woodrow Wilson appear, while a space is left in which another name may be written. The voter may also express his choice for vice-president.

GIRL GOES BLIND

STRICKEN WHILE AT WORK AT SWITCHBOARD

ATLANTIC CITY, April 27.—Ethel Hiltner, a 17-year-old operator in the Bell telephone exchange here, called up Dr. Marcus from her switchboard yesterday and said:

"I've gone blind, doctor; will you call at the exchange as soon as you can."

Then Miss Hiltner slid, fainting, from her chair. The other operators had no intimation before that of any trouble, although they knew the girl had been under Dr. Marcus' care.

The child fell a victim to her desire to "make good." Dr. Marcus said last night after he had examined Miss Hiltner's eyes, "The lights which automatically signal from the switchboard that a receiver has been taken off its hook, spoiled the chance Miss Hiltner had of recovering from an injury received a year ago. She fell then and cut herself over the right eye."

"The nerve was impaired, but it responded to treatment, and the girl would have to work through the Easter rush."

"Now the weakened nerve has broken down again. Miss Hiltner may recover, but the odds are against her, and if she gets better it will only be after a long course of treatment."

A GOLD TABLET

TO BE PRESENTED TO MARCONI MONDAY EVENING

NEW YORK, April 27.—A feature of the Titanic memorial and benefit performance to be given at the Metropolitan opera house on Monday evening for the benefit of the families of the Titanic's unselcted will be the presentation to Guglielmo Marconi of a handsome gold tablet designed by Prince Paul Troubetzkoy in commemoration of the part played by wireless telegraphy in the rescue of the survivors.

On its obverse side the tablet represents the Titanic heading toward an immense iceberg on the side of which is the figure of a kneeling woman with her hand covering her face in grief. On the reverse appears the head of Mr. Marconi heroically designed.

SPECIAL SERVICES

TO BE HELD AT ST. JOSEPH'S CHURCH TOMORROW

Tomorrow will be the feast of the patronage of St. Joseph, and on this occasion the Easter music will be repeated at the high mass at St. Joseph's church. The mass, which will be a solemn high, will be celebrated by the pastor, Rev. Henri Vattelle, and the sermon will be delivered by the rector, Rev. Charles Paquette, O. M. I.

At the seven o'clock mass the members of the Holy Family sodality will receive communion in a body and the sermon will be delivered by the spiritual director of the sodality, Rev. Joseph Blais, O. M. I. In the evening, at 8:30 o'clock there will be a general meeting of both the married and single men's branches at which 20 new members will be received into the organization and the officers for the ensuing year will be chosen.

The sodality has given orders for the large banner of the Holy Family and also two flags, the American and the Sacred Heart. These it is expected will arrive next week and the solemn blessing will be held a week from tomorrow.

GIRL WAS SAVED

Col. Roosevelt Caught Her Just in Time

HARTFORD, Conn., April 27.—Traveling from New York to Worcester yesterday afternoon, Col. Roosevelt saved one life and made a couple of votes, perhaps. He is generally acknowledged to have saved the life of Miss Ruth Vance, a senior in the Northwood, Mass., high school, who was returning on board the colonel's train with a party when had been spending a spring vacation in Washington, chaperoned by Mrs. Gene Field.

At New Haven the high school girls joined the crowd that congregated about the colonel's car, independence, and, forgetful of the time, many had to rush for their forward cars when the train started to move.

Stowed near her companions, Miss Vance, lingering behind, was being left on the platform when the colonel beckoned to her to board his own car. She, however, intent upon joining her own party, was fast losing ground, when in desperation she reached for the handrail of the "Independence" only to slip almost beneath the wheels of the car.

Then the steady right arm of the Hon-hunter grasped her wrist and she was hauled bodily over the guardrail and to safety amid the vociferous cheers of the New Haveners who had been hotly watching the colonel.

Wearing his hat in rings as he told them with vehemence that he was going to make "the speech of my life tonight at Worcester."

WOMAN WAS WEAK FROM LOSS OF BLOOD

BRIDGE MANNING was taken from her home, 237 Dutton street last night and removed to St. John's hospital, suffering from had cuts received in a fall down stairs. The woman was not seriously injured but she was very weak from the loss of blood from a deep wound in the head. The police later visited the above address and arrested Lawrence Martin on a charge of drunkenness.

Man Fell and Was Badly Injured

Jeremiah Driscoll is confined to St. John's hospital suffering from a broken right arm and several cuts on his head, as the result of a fall at his home, 23 Webster street, in an endeavor to escape from his room, when a fire was in progress. At 8:22 last night a kerosene lamp was overturned in Driscoll's room and he made a hasty retreat to the stairway falling down the flight of stairs. When picked up he was in an unconscious condition and was removed to the hospital. An alarm was rung from box 24 and the firemen soon had control of the flames which were confined to the bedding and the partition.

Gave a Grand Performance in Associate Hall Last Night

The M. T. I. Bachelor Girls, noted as musical entertainers of rare talent, gave another of their delightful musical song recitals last night, the affair being held in Associate hall. The entertainment was one of the best of its kind ever given in this city and much credit is due the soloists as well as the chorus girls for their splendid singing.

The stage was set to represent a section of a large Atlantic liner, the soloists and the pearly ballet being seated on the main deck and the chorus on the upper deck. Up above them were the two big funnels and strings of banners. The entire cast with the exception of the pearly ballet were in pretty white sailor costumes with black ties. The setting presented a very pretty sight and when the curtain was drawn the audience greeted the performers with loud applause.

The excellent program rendered was as follows:

Opening Chorus.

Special number by Quartet, Misses Boland, Buckley, Bonin, Nolan.

"My Little Jungle Maid," Miss Rose McDonough.

"My Beautiful Rose," Miss Alice Bonin.

"Cindy,"

HEAVY BATTING GAME

Lowell Won From Lynn in the Ninth Inning

There were about 300 fans present at the game between Lowell and Lynn at Spaulding park yesterday. There was a brisk wind blowing across the diamond, but the people present were so enthusiastic that they did not feel the strong wind. It was the second game between the two teams this season and although Lowell won the first, it was by such a score that it was hardly a surprise. The game was a heavy batting game, with both teams scoring runs in the ninth inning. The game was called at 3:15 o'clock by Umpire Jack Kerin.

First Inning
Lynn broke the ice in the first inning by sending one man across the plate. Wallace was the first man to face Yount, and he singled by second and went to second on a sacrifice by Straits. Wallace was then caught off second, Yount to Burkel to Boulters. Keefe followed with a single. McGovern drew a free pass and when Logan singled to left field Keefe scored. McGovern was thrown out at third, retiring the side.

In the latter half of the inning the home team scored two runs, both being forced in. Burkel drew a free pass and went to second on De Groff's single. Cooney hit to Morris and De Groff was thrown out at second. Cooney stole second and Magee then walked, filling the bases. Rising drew a base on balls and Burkel was forced in. Boulters hit to Morris and the latter got Cooney at the plate. Miller got a pitched ball and Magee was forced home. Lavigne hit to Morris and Miller was caught at the plate.

Score—Lowell 2, Lynn 1.

Second Inning
Lynn scored six runs in the second inning, the majority of the runs being due to the wildness of Yount who gave three bases on balls. Morris, the first man up, was given a free pass as was Cooney. Weeden singled and Morris scored, and Orcutt went to third. Hayes hit to Boulters and was out at first. Wallace was given a base on balls and Orcutt scored on a wild pitch. Straits scored Weeden with a single to the infield. Keefe hit to Burkel and Wallace scored. McGovern singled to left and Straits scored. Logan hit to right field and Cooney scored. McGovern hit to Cooney who got Logan at second and the ball was sent to first for a double play.

Lowell scored two runs in the latter half of the inning. Yount opened with a single to right field and Burkel tied to Wallace. De Groff fanned the batters. Cooney then lifted the ball over the right field fence for a home run. The home run made the local grounds during the season and he and Yount scored. Magee drew a base on balls and Rising followed with another free pass. At this point in the game Hayes was taken out of the box and Reiser substituted. Boulters died to Wallace.

Score—Lowell 4, Lynn 7.

Third Inning
Lynn scored another run in the third inning. Orcutt started the ball rolling by knocking it into left field for a two bagger and went to third on Weeden's sacrifice. Reiser singled and Orcutt scored. Wallace struck out. Straits got a two bagger to left field but Keefe was third out on a grounder to Burkel who threw the runner out at first.

Lowell scored seven runs in the latter half of the inning. Miller, the first man up, walked to first after being hit by a pitched ball. Lavigne hit to Logan who threw him to McGovern and both men were safe. Yount singled to left field scoring Miller and Lavigne. Burkel walked and De Groff beat the ball to first on an infield hit. Cooney singled to center and Yount and Burkel scored. Magee followed with another single to center and De Groff scored. Rising sacrificed. Boulters sent the ball into right field for a single and Cooney and Magee scored. Boulters in trying to make second was thrown out. Miller singled to left, stole second, Lavigne drew a base on balls and Yount wound up the inning by hitting the ball to Orcutt, and Miller was out at third.

Score—Lowell 11, Lynn 8.

Fourth Inning
In the fourth inning McGovern hit to Burkel and died at first. Logan struck out. Morris slammed the ball over the left field fence for a home run. Orcutt was third out. Cooney to first.

The home team failed to score in the fourth. Burkel hit to left field and when Keefe dropped the ball he made two bases. De Groff sacrificed, sending him to third. Cooney died to Orcutt and Burkel in trying to steal home was thrown out at the plate.

Score—Lowell 11, Lynn 9.

Fifth Inning
The first game egg for Lynn was registered in the fifth inning. Weeden struck out but Lavigne dropped the ball. Lavigne, however, recovered the ball in time to get the runner at first. Reiser singled to left. Wallace hit to Burkel who threw Weeden out at second and Straits was third out on a fly to Cooney.

In Lowell's half Magee struck out and Rising hit to Morris. Boulters got hit by a pitched ball and later stole second but he died there for Miller hit to Lavigne and died at first.

Score—Lowell 11, Lynn 9.

his place at second. Magee filed to Logan.

Score: Lowell 13, Lynn 10.

Seventh Inning
Lynn tied the score in the seventh inning. Wallace sent a grounder to Miller and was out at first. Straits hit to Cooney who threw to Miller and although the latter made a high jump and stopped the ball the umpire called the runner safe. Keefe drew a base on balls. McGovern hit to Boulters who tagged Straits at third. Logan hit through Magee for a home run and scored Keefe and McGovern ahead of him. Morris was third out on a fly to Magee.

Lowell failed to make a tally in the latter half of the inning. Rising singled to left and at this point Reiser was taken out of the box and Scott put in. Boulters sacrificed sending Rising to second. Miller filed to Logan. Logan threw to Morris getting Rising for a double play.

Score: Lowell 13, Lynn 13.

Eighth Inning
In the eighth inning Orcutt hit to Cooney and beat the ball to first. Weeden hit to Cooney who threw to Miller getting Orcutt at second. Scott hit to Boulters and died at first. Wallace singled to center scoring Weeden. Wallace took second on a wild pitch. Straits struck out.

Lavigne singled to center. At this point Yount relieved Weeden behind the bat for Lynn. Yount struck out. Nye filed to Wallace. De Groff filed to Wallace.

Score: Lowell 13, Lynn 14.

Ninth Inning
Keefe filed to De Groff and McGovern went out Nye to Miller. Logan singled to left. Morris hit to Cooney and beat the ball to first. Orcutt died to Boulters.

Cooney hit to Morris and was out at first. Magee sent the ball to left field for a two bagger. Rising doubled to left field scoring Magee and the score was tied. Boulters singled scoring the winning run.

MANAGER OF CINCINNATI REDS AND THREE OF HIS STARS NOW SETTING SWIFT PACE

CINCINNATI, April 27.—Back O'Day and his Red Legs are now the sensation of the National League. The team has started off with a rush, and experts are guessing as to whether they will keep it up or if it is just a flash in the pan. Local critics are of the opinion that the Reds are the strongest team in the parent organization and should continue at the present pace all season. Clark Griffith left O'Day some splendid material to work on, so now it looks as if the ex-umpire has molded a strong aggregation together. The Reds have been fortunate in landing

ONE MAN WAS KILLED

Another Dying—Struck by Auto in Boston Today

BOSTON, April 27.—One man is dead and another is dying as the result of being struck by an auto driven by an unknown man in Boylston street today. The victim, Thomas Donahue, 45 years old, married, of South Boston, and John Connelly, aged 35, of South Boston, were repairing trucks for the Boston Elevated road and had stepped to the outward bound track to avoid a car when the auto came speeding along. According to witnesses the machine was traveling at a very fast speed and it was reported to the police that the chauffeur did not sound the horn or make any effort to swing to one side. The two men were hurled against the electric car with great force and the chauffeur continued on and made his escape. Both injured men were taken to the Grace hospital, where Donahue died soon after arriving. The police started an investigation immediately and began a search of garages in Brookline, Brighton, Cambridge and other suburbs.

cluded in the list to give addresses to the voters.

The cheers for Roosevelt in the South station had scarcely died away when they were renewed by the advent of Gov. Woodrow Wilson on his way from the rally here last night for additional speeches today in Worcester, Springfield and Holyoke.

At the Taft headquarters arrangements were perfected for the second visit of the president to the state on Monday, when he will take up the Roosevelt trail through Bristol, Plymouth, Essex and Middlesex counties.

A statement was issued today by the supporters of Senator La Follette, claiming that the Wisconsin aspirant for the presidency would poll 20,000 in the presidential primaries on Tuesday.

At the Clark headquarters it was stated that Charles A. Towne of New York, Gov. Elbert Robinson of Arkansas and Senator Dubois would reach here late today and speak in several Boston wards, as well as at Brockton and Chelsea tonight. Copies of the "Home Daws" song are being given wide distribution.

The daily newspapers in nearly all parts of the state fairly bristled today with political advertisements.

BROADWAY MILLINERY CO.
The latest addition in the millinery business in our city is the Broadway Wholesale Millinery Co. If the shapes, materials, ribbons, feathers and ornaments and everything used in the millinery art are not sold at the lowest prices in the country it is not the fault of the Broadway Wholesale Millinery Co., for they are surely raising havoc to the high priced millinery. They are located at 158 Merrimack street, up one flight, and it certainly seems that it would pay a person to climb a dozen flights to get such wonderful bargains. Their big ad in yesterday's Sun should be read by every lady that appreciates great values in millinery. A dollar saved is as good as two earned, and it seems by prices quoted that that is easily done by trading with the Broadway Wholesale Millinery Co.

POLITICAL BATTLES

BOSTON, April 27.—With speeches scheduled in several large cities in Massachusetts, today promised to be one of considerable activity for Colonel Roosevelt. His first address after leaving the South station on a forenoon train was from the train at Quincy, Brockton, Middleboro, Taunton, New Bedford and Fall River, where he also gave the calendar for speeches by the former president. The closing rally of the day takes place tonight at the Boston arena where it was believed the colonel would answer many of President Taft's charges delivered from the same ring last Thursday night. Leaders of the Roosevelt campaign in this state had arranged rallies today in more than a score of cities and towns with several prominent speakers in-

NEWSPAPER MEN IN NEW YORK HEAR SPEECH BY PRESIDENT TAFT, WHO WAS IN BOSTON; EACH GUEST HAD INDIVIDUAL RECEIVER, AND SPEAKER'S WORDS WERE CLEARLY HEARD

NEW YORK, April 27.—Eight hundred journalists in the banquet room at the Waldorf-Astoria heard a speech delivered to them by President Taft, who was in Boston. They heard it through telephones, each diner having an individual receiver, while a transmitter at one side of the room equipped with a horn gathered the cheers and sent them to the speaker 250 miles away. The occasion was the annual dinner of the American Newspaper Publishers' association and the Associated Press. The picture shows the audience with the telephone receivers to their ears. Dr. Alexander Graham Bell, the inventor of the telephone, and Thomas A. Edison heard the speech. They are shown in the picture directly under the big flag and are indicated by "V," Dr. Bell being at the right.

A RALLY FOR WILSON

Prominent Speakers Addressed a Gathering of Local Citizens

Many local voters who are advocating the candidacy of Gov. Woodrow Wilson for the democratic nomination for president, held an enthusiastic meeting in Harrington hall, 52 Central street last evening. All the speakers urged the nomination of Gov. Wilson on the ground that he is the strongest man the democrats can name and referred to his great vote-getting ability in New Jersey. Hon. James B. Casey presided and asked the democrats to turn out in large numbers to the polls and vote for Gov. Wilson, whom he classed as one of the real progressive men of the country.

He presented as the first speaker Cornelius Ford, president of the New Jersey State Federation of Labor and a member of the New Jersey assembly. Mr. Ford said in part:

"The legislature of New Jersey was absolutely controlled by the interests up to the time that Woodrow Wilson was elected governor, and today I believe that we are one of the most progressive states in the East."

"I have been informed that George Fred Williams has been saying that Governor Wilson is opposed to labor."

Now, in New Jersey, we have many operatives, and they recognize in Governor Wilson their loyal friend. When he came into office he found conditions most deplorable, and in his inaugural address he set forth what the legislature must do to correct such conditions. As a result, we have laws more equitable to the working people."

"In Trenton state prison they make goods for 48 cents a day, and these goods went out to the people in competition with regularly manufactured goods prior to the election of Governor Wilson."

Since his election this has been done away with at his instigation. And yet his traducers deliberately tell you that he is not a friend of labor."

"Gov. Wilson says the man is above the dollar, and he has been consistent in this attitude at all times. He has not served the trusts, but on the contrary, has opposed them at all times, when their efforts were directed against the public good. The Pennsylvania railroad had New Jersey by the throat until Gov. Wilson came upon the scene then it went out of business as a dictator."

Congressman Burleson

A. S. Burleson, congressman from Texas spoke at some length, saying among other things: "I represent the largest cotton producing country in the world and therefore, it is fitting that I should address you people of a great cotton manufacturing centre."

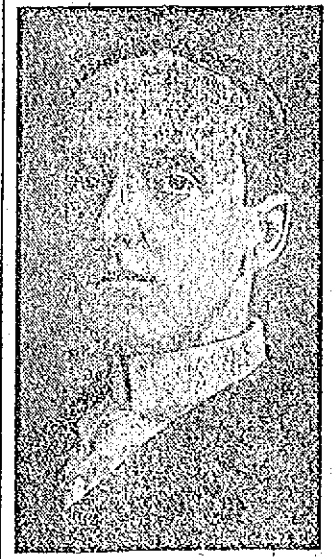

"As a party, the democratic people of this country were disturbed and retarded by strife within their ranks, but in 1910, harmony took possession and the result was a great victory. The people of the country, irrespective of party, at this time, became sick of the republican organization that had been naming its officers for the purpose of playing into the hands of the interests. "Today, for the first time in years, a united democratic party is working, while the republican party is stirred by dissension. Roosevelt is assailing the republican party and in every speech he is stating the fact that there is within the party an organization that blocks all of the rights of the people; and on the other hand President Taft says the Roosevelt people are neurotics with a purpose to destroy the constitution. Roosevelt says the interest represented by the Guggenheims and of Crane, the Massachusetts junior senator, are in control. President Taft answers back and says that your Bristows and your La Follettes are crack-brained men, utterly unworthy of consideration—men laying implausible hands on the ark of the covenant. What an inspiring situation for democrats! What a splendid opportunity confronts us! "The democratic party has always given its support to honesty in public life. It first advocated the civil service system. We want to win in order that this government may find its way into the hands of the people, as so forcibly advocated by Roosevelt recently. "Now, we want to win. In the first place, who will be benefited by democratic success? The people. It is your fight. If we have had government in this country, it is the fault of the people, and you've got no one to blame but yourselves. Don't let a man wreck your organization if he can't rule it. "Don't let any boss say to you that he won't support the democratic ticket if his candidate doesn't win and thereby win your vote, even though he is at the head of a big newspaper. The only way to win is by selecting the most available candidate. "I believe that the candidate best qualified to bring about the control of the government by the people should be the selection of the party. The responsibility resting on the American citizen is a serious one, and every man must express himself at the polls Tuesday. Of the democratic candidates, I will say that they are all excellent men, but there is only one of these who has strength from Washington to Florida and from Maine to Texas. "Clark is a candidate against Wilson in this state, and he is a fine old fellow, and he would make you an excellent president, but can he be elected? The independent voter is going to control the coming election, and Mr. Wilson is the man who will command this vote."

Parker D. Morris

Hon. Parker D. Morris of Boston, well known in Lowell, was introduced in complimentary terms by Chairman Casey, and he discussed eloquently the pledges made by Gov. Wilson, to the people of New Jersey before his election as governor. Mr. Morris argued that Gov. Wilson has demonstrated himself to be in the forefront of the progressive movement. He referred to him as the man who not unlike other men seeking political preferment, promised to reform conditions, and made good. Such is the man he believed should be selected to lead the democratic party.

Hon. Charles M. Mason, dean of the New Jersey Law school, was the final speaker, and he spoke plainly, referring to Gov. Wilson's appointments to judgeships in his state, as fine types of progressive, clean, honest and in most cases, young men. He felt that because of Gov. Wilson's perfect record in public life, his genuine independence, and his loyalty to the plain people of the state whilst in the governor's chair, he would win in the presidential primary.

GREAT CROWD LISTENED TO WILSON AT BOSTON MEETING

BOSTON, April 27.—Before an enthusiastic crowd that packed Tremont Temple to the doors, Governor Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey last night announced the principles of his democracy.

He pledged himself to lay aside all personal ambition, and to support the nominee of the democratic party, whoever he may be.

Solemnly he voiced a warning to the people of Massachusetts that whichever party wins this fall, if that party does not redeem its pledges to the citizens of the nation and bring about the social, economic and political reforms sorely needed, it will mean that the next president of the United States will be elected by the socialists.

He scathingly arraigned William B. Hearst for attempting to disrupt the democratic party on the eve of its greatest opportunity for a generation, and declared:

"In the present juncture such an act is absolute disloyalty to the United States."

"The republican party has accepted favors from the privileged interests of this country," he charged, "and it is bound to those interests body and soul."

"The democratic party, thank God, is free today. Ours is the opportunity. Therefore any man who attempts to disrupt the democratic party is a traitor to his country."

broken into the other night and a small amount of money was taken. It seems that there were a few dollars left in the cash register on the night in question and when Mr. Small opened up in the morning he found that the money was missing. Upon investigation he found that nothing else was taken.

The members of Court Wagnallanelli No. 174, M. C. O. F., held a very successful whist party and dance last night in the town hall, with a large attendance. Whist was enjoyed in the lower hall by the lovers of the game while the younger people enjoyed dancing in the upper hall, to the music of Kittredge's orchestra. Dancing started at 8 o'clock and continued until 12. During the intermission James P. Quigley and John J. Curry counted the score cards for the successful prize winners at whist. Mrs. C. A. Williams of Lowell and Miss Charlotte Lowe were tied for first prize and were obliged to cut the cards. The result of the cut gave the first prize, a cut glass dish, to Mrs. Williams, while the second prize, a set of pins, went to Miss Lowe. The gentlemen's first prize, a pair of rosy beads, was awarded to James McGovern, while James R. Gookin took second, a pin. The consolations went to Miss Veronica Lowe and Henry Miner. After the awarding of the prizes, dancing was resumed until midnight when a late car returned to Lowell. The following committee had charge of the affair: Alphonse Magnan, general manager; Elizabeth Dunnigan, assistant; George Stanley, floor director; Alice Leahy, assistant; Fred Ready, chief aid. Committee on whist: Perley Constantineau, James Kelly, Mary Donnelly and C. McOlinchey.

BILLERICA

A Taft rally was held at the Billerica Republican club in Billerica last night. The meeting was held in the North village and John Brown, the president of the club, occupied the chair during the evening. There was a good sized attendance.

The speakers of the evening were Congressman Butler Ames, and Alonzo G. Walsh of Lowell and both advocated the nomination of President William H. Taft as the republican candidate for the presidency. Following the meeting a brief reception was held by Congressman Ames.

RENOMINATE PRESIDENT TAFT

Here is Theodore Roosevelt's real opinion of William H. Taft, given after years of intimate knowledge and acquaintance:

"I do not believe there can be found in the whole country a man so well fitted to be President. He is not only absolutely fearless, absolutely disinterested and upright, but he has the widest acquaintance with the nation's needs, without and within, and the broadest sympathies with all our citizens; as emphatically a President of the plain people as Lincoln was, yet not Lincoln himself would be freer from the least taint of demagoguery, the least tendency to appeal to class hatred of any kind. To no one class does William H. Taft appeal so strongly as to the workingman. There is nothing he will not do to improve his condition and advance his interests, except to do that which is wrong and he will not do wrong for anybody."

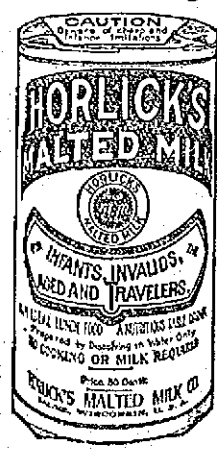

MASSACHUSETTS KNOWS THAT THIS OPINION IS RIGHT.
GIVE TO SUCH A MAN THE ENDORSEMENT AND THE SECOND TERM HE HAS EARNED.

HELD FOR GRAND JURY

Men Charged With Larceny of 10,000 Packages of Cigarets

The principal case brought before Judge John J. Pickman in police court this morning was that of William O'Brien and William Melancon, charged with the larceny of 10,000 packages of cigarettes, the property of Frederick D. Shepard. Pleas of not guilty were entered by the defendants but after the court had considered the testimony offered he found both defendants guilty and ordered each under bonds of $700 for the superior court.

The first witness for the government was Frederick D. Shepard, who testified that he is a dealer and occupied the third floor of the building in the rear of the Morse Coach Co. He said that he missed between four and five cases of cigarettes and that each case was valued at about $100. He said that he thought about 25,000 cigarettes had been stolen from his storehouse during the past few months.

On cross-examination the witness said that he had examined the property last Thursday and that he knew that three cases of Perfecto cigarettes were missing at that time.

Witness said that he did not know what the contents of the storehouse was but that he had found that a break had been made and that goods were missing.

Lieutenant Martin Maher said that he saw the man trying to dispose of the cigarettes and when asked where he got them Melancon said that they were purchased from a farmer.

When the pair were brought to the police station and put through a rigid examination, he said, they admitted that on Wednesday night between 9 and 9:30 o'clock they got a hammer and opened three cases of cigarettes, but before they could leave the city the police had the two young men. It is alleged that the two defendants after stealing the goods sold what they could and then buried the rest.

When Lieut. Maher was cross-examined he said that after the men were arrested he said they should be sent to prison.

When the defense rested its case, arguments were heard and probable cause was found and both defendants were held for the grand jury under $700 each.

Drunken Offenders

Mary Hoops, charged with being drunk, was sentenced to two months in jail.

J. Martin was a second offender and he was ordered to pay a fine of $6.

Assault Case

The case of Nicholas Maggouras, charged with assault and battery on April 11, when it is alleged that he entered the house where his two sisters reside and assaulted Poulos Thereseas, who was also living there, was called. It occupied considerable time. The complainant testified that on the night in question the defendant came to the house and first picked up a stick and struck him on the head, inflicting a deep gash. He then, the complainant testified, pulled out a knife, cutting his hand and later drew a revolver but did not shoot. The defendant's two sisters testified in behalf of the complainant. One who is married and doesn't live with her husband, said that her brother came to the house and told her to return to her husband. She refused and she said that he then went in and assaulted Thereseas. The other sister corroborated her testimony in part, but the testimony of the three witnesses showed many discrepancies. The defendant said that he went to the house where the complainant and his sisters were living and that he went there owing to stories that he had heard about his married sister and Thereseas and that when he spoke to the latter about the stories the latter took hold of a chair. He in self-defense took the stick that was lying in the corner and hit him with it. He denied that he had a knife or a revolver. The court found the defendant guilty and imposed a fine of $20. He appealed.

Case Continued

The case of John Maciewicz, charged with assault upon Alexander Urbanowicz, on last Saturday evening was called this morning and as the testimony was very complicated, Judge Pickman continued it until Tuesday, during which time he will consider the testimony. According to the testimony of the complainant the defendant while he was standing in Ben's court on last Saturday evening came along and without any talk struck him in the stomach. His brother corroborated his testimony. The defendant said that on the night in question the complainant called him a scab and that he, the complainant raised his hand to hit him. The defendant said that he then pushed him away. His brother, too, was a witness and he testified along the same lines.

A Complicated Case

The case of George Economou against the Melosia society in which the former alleges that he was not paid in full an amount voted him by the society, which was supposed to be delivered to him by the treasurer, John Angeles, for a sick benefit, was called. It was a very technical case and from the testimony it appears that several money transactions were made. At one time a compromise was tried in one of the lawyer's offices. The case was a rather lengthy one and was on at 1:15 o'clock.

THE ANNUAL RECITAL

MRS. LILLIAN O'BRIEN SCANNELL

Fine Showing by Elocution Pupils of Mrs. Scannell

Colonial hall was the scene last night of a very delightful entertainment and great pleasure was afforded an appreciative audience. The entertainers were the pupils of Mrs. Lillian O'Brien Scannell and they were heard in a charming program of readings, impersonations and sketches. The recital was of a high order throughout and the pupils reflected great credit upon their instructor as well as upon themselves. The music was in keeping with the excellent character of the program which opened and closed with an instrumental selection by Mildred Brennan, violin; Ruth Adams, cello; Anna Scannell, pianist.

The ushers were Misses Elizabeth Coughlin, Christine Kane, Mary Scannell, Madeline Crevier, Frances Molloy and Marie Tracy.

The chief numbers were: A Shaker Romance, C. E. Haight, Lillian Green; A Heeting Sin, Edmund Vance Cooke, Allen Graham; When the Minister Comes to Tea, Juliet Tompkins, Isabelle Roy; Sister's Best Fellow, Joe Lincoln, Grace Barrett; His Buttons Are Marked U. ## Another Attempt Made to Secure His Release From Asylum

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., April 27.—A fourth attempt through the agency of the law to liberate Harry K. Thaw from the Matteawan state insane asylum, where he has been imprisoned for the slaying of Stanford White six years ago "because of sanity," was made today before Justice Keogh of the supreme court in New Rochelle. Thaw was brought down from Matteawan this morning and taken to New Rochelle, where the hearing was scheduled to be held in the home of Justice Keogh. The hearing today on a writ of habeas corpus was expected to be preliminary in character and it was understood that no witnesses would be examined or exhibits produced. An adjournment for several weeks in order that counsel for the state may go over the voluminous records in previous habeas corpus proceedings was predicted.

Scott Ferris of Oklahoma, Congressman James Graham of Illinois, Congressman John J. Russell of Missouri, Hon. Joseph Robinson, governor elect of Arkansas, Congressman Beal of Texas and Hon. James E. Curley of Boston.

Another Fine Presentation by the High School Pupils

"Iolanthe" was given its fourth and last presentation by the students of the high school in high school hall last evening. This very charming musical opera was presented on

FREDERIC O. BLUNT, Director.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights of last week and the call for a "repeat" was so strong and persistent that it was decided to present it again last night. The work done in preparation for the opera had been carried on through this week and there was nothing lacking in last night's performance. There was a good attendance and the performance was more than creditable. To Mr. F. O. Blunt, the musical director of the high school, a great deal of credit is due for his great interest and good work as musical director. He is in perfect harmony with the students and when he puts his time and ability against their endeavors there is always a ready response. Most of the high schools of the larger cities of the state undertake dramatics of some sort during the school year, but few aspire as high as the local school, either in the magnitude of the production or the choice of the production and that the teachers and students are capable of classical productions has been very thoroughly and very happily illustrated.

CLASS AT VARNUM SCHOOL SUPPLIED WITH YOUNG SILVER MAPLE TREES FOR PLANTING

At the various grammar schools yesterday a large number of young silver maple trees were distributed to the pupils, each child who wanted a tree receiving one or more. At the Varnum school the children were instructed in the method of planting trees, and it is safe to say that ten years hence the silver maple will be prominent among our shade trees throughout the city. The young trees were given away by the A. G. Pollard Company.

Mr. James E. Donnelly and as the body was being borne from the church "In Memoriam" was rendered by the choir. Mrs. Josephine McKennedy presided at the organ and the choir was under the direction of Mr. James E. Donnelly.

There was a profusion of beautiful and appropriate floral offerings showing the esteem in which the deceased was held by her many friends and acquaintances and among them were the following: Large wreath of roses, pink, lilacs and ferns with the inscription "At Rest," from the daughter, Miss Sarah Hunt; sheaf of wheat inscribed "Aunt," from the niece and nephews; palms and maiden-hair ferns from the Misses Katherine and Sarah Sparks; wreath of pink roses and ferns, Mr. John F. Thompson. There were several other sprays from friends.

The bearers were: Messrs. John Andrews, Patrick Scanlon, Cornelius Keleher and Hugh Farley. After leaving the church the funeral cortege proceeded to St. Patrick's cemetery, burial being in the family lot where the committal prayers were read by Rev. Daniel J. Heffernan. The funeral was largely attended and was under the direction of Undertakers Higgins Bros.

SEAMANS—The funeral of Mrs. Stella Seamans took place this morning at 9:15 o'clock from the chapel of Undertaker Charles H. Molloy, and was very largely attended. A funeral high mass was celebrated in St. Peter's church at 9:45 o'clock by Rev. Fr. Burns. The Gregorian chant was sung by the choir, the soloists being Miss Gertrude Keleher and Mr. James F. Donnelly. The organist was Mrs. Josephine McKennedy. The burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery, where Rev. Fr. Burns read the prayers at the grave. The bearers were Richard Dooley, Edmund McNamara, Jeremiah Dooley and Edmund McNamara, Jr. Among the floral offerings were the following: Large spray from the husband, large wreath from Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Dinnity, Mrs. R. C. Donley, Mrs. Roberts and Misses Emma and

DR. PEARSONS DEAD

CHICAGO, April 26.—Dr. Daniel Pearsons, 53 years old, who in recent years gave more than $5,000,000 to small colleges, chiefly in the Middle West, died early today in a sanitarium at Hinsdale, a suburb, comparatively a poor man. Pneumonia with complications due to old age was the cause.

Lena Farrell, large spray from Mary Twomey and Christina Broderick; large spray from Miss Seamans; large spray from the McNamara family. The funeral was in charge of Undertaker Charles H. Molloy.

BERRY—The funeral of John R. Berry took place yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home, 75 Magalloway street, Rev. F. D. Carver officiating. The bearers were Messrs. James and William Broadbent, Mr. Taylor and Mr. Ryder. Burial took place in the Edison cemetery in charge of Undertaker C. M. Young.

FILTEAU—The funeral of Mrs. Philomena Filteau, widow of John B. Filteau, took place at 9 o'clock Thursday morning from her home, 45 Banks street, Somerville. Services were held at St. Catherine's church, solemn high funeral mass being conducted by Rev. Fr. Dorris as celebrant. Rev. Fr. Morphy as deacon and Rev. Fr. Sweeney as sub-deacon. The choir sang the Gregorian mass. The funeral was largely attended by friends and relatives from Lowell, Manchester, Cambridge, Arlington and Somerville. Among the many floral tributes were: Standing cross on base, inscribed "Mother," from daughter, Mrs. Dolma M. Poitier and son-in-law, Armand J. Poitier; spray, Joseph C. Filteau; standing wreath inscribed "Mother," Eldridge Filteau; pillow inscribed "Mother," Henry A. Filteau; spray, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. J. Taylor; spray, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence C. Pendergast; spray, O. W. Watson; wreath holding large spray, employees of Union Laundry of Boston; spray, Mr. and Mrs. Peltier of Lowell; spray and bouquet, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Pickard and Miss Florence Pickard, all of Somerville.

The bearers were her three sons, Messrs. Joseph C. W. Eldridge and Henry A. Filteau and her son-in-law, Armand J. Poitier. Burial was in the family lot at St. Pleasant, Arlington, by the side of her recently deceased husband, John B. Filteau, Con-

Primitive folks did not need laxatives. They lived outdoors, ate plenty of fruit, and all of their food was coarse. We modern people are different. We exercise too little, eat little fruit, and our food is too fine—too rich. We simply can't have our ten yards of bowels clogged, our liver choked with sour bile and stomach full of foul effete matter and feel well. It means that the food and waste retained in the stomach and thirty feet of bowels ferments—decays. The decay creates poisons, gases and acids, and these poisons are sucked into the blood through the very ducts intended to suck in the nutriment. Then we have sick headache, become gull, bilious, tongue coated, nervous, meals don't digest, and we feel miserable all over. So we must make our choice. We must live like primitive folks, else we must take artificial means to move the excess bile and waste matter on and out of the system.

The safest, most harmless and effective stomach, liver and bowel cleanser and regulator for men, women and children—is delicious Syrup of Figs, which doesn't irritate, gripe or weaken. Its effect is the effect of fruits. It is composed entirely of luscious figs, senna and aromatics. Don't think you are drugging yourself. Syrup of Figs can be constantly used without harm.

Ask your druggist for "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna," and see on the label that it is prepared by The California Fig Syrup Company. This is the only genuine—the old reliable. Refuse, with contempt, the so-called Fig Syrup imitations sometimes offered to deceive you.

mittal prayers at the grave were read by Rev. Fr. Curtin of St. Cecilia's church of Arlington. Mr. Danahy of Cambridge was in charge of the burial.

HEALEY—The funeral of Mary Agnes Healey, beloved infant daughter of John F. and Della Healey, took place yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the home of her parents, 18 Cedar street, and was largely attended. There were many beautiful floral tributes including spray with ribbon inscribed "Our Baby," from parents; basket, Mrs. Hornbrook; and Master Willie Hornbrook; spray, Annie Campbell; spray, Miss Della Laidman and the Hannigan family; spray, with ribbon inscribed "Adean," Mrs. Bridges; wreath, Miss Mary Jordan; spray, Patrick Clark; wreath, Mrs. Thomas Langdon and the Misses Mary and Sarah Fox; spray, Miss Margaret Smith. The burial was in the family lot in St. Patrick's cemetery under the direction of Undertakers J. F. O'Donnell & Sons.

SQUIRES—The funeral of Mrs. Mattie B. Squires took place this forenoon at 10 o'clock from the rooms of Undertaker George W. Healey, 79 Branch street. The services were conducted by Rev. James M. Craig, pastor of the First Presbyterian church. Appropriate selections were sung by Mrs. Fred L. Roberts and Mrs. H. Edward Symonds. Burial was in the family lot in the Edison cemetery.

PROTECT PUBLIC

Inspector Connor Writes to Contractors

The following letter which is self explanatory, has been sent out to the various contractors and builders in the city by the inspector of buildings:

Dear Sir:

Your attention is respectfully called to Section 53 of the building ordinance which defines the method to be used by owners and contractors in protecting the public during the erection, alterations or repair of buildings.

My reason for bringing this matter to your attention at this time is due to the fact that contractors. In the past, have left that they never received proper notification of the necessity, during building operations, of roofing over the sidewalk when possible to do so.

Enclosed find copy of the section above referred to which I trust you will read carefully and if the occasion presents itself in the future I am sure you will see the necessity of providing proper protection to the public.

Very truly yours,
Francis A. Connor,
Inspector of Buildings.

The section reads as follows:

Section 53. Temporary coverings over sidewalks, walks and fences. Whenever any new building fronting a street within the fire limits shall have attained the height of one story, or whenever it may become necessary to unroof or take down any buildings within the above described territory or to perform any work thereon whereby any risk may be incurred to any person or persons passing the same, it shall be the duty of the party or parties erecting, unroofing, taking down or performing any work on such building or of the owner thereof, to erect a good and substantial covering over the sidewalk, at least six (6) feet wide and ten (10) feet high, to be approved by the inspector.

During the time of such occupation of the street for such building operations, the person or persons so occupying said street shall maintain and keep in repair both said temporary sidewalk and fence.

A sidewalk or passageway, at least three (3) feet wide, shall be kept in front of any building during the process of its construction, except as otherwise provided above.

And such temporary sidewalk shall be paid out around the space to be used for the materials to be employed in the erection of such building.

And such temporary sidewalk shall at all times be kept clear for the passage of persons over the same, except when materials are being handled over said sidewalk, and no person shall leave any material, tools, implements or machinery thereon.

Said temporary sidewalk shall be constructed of two (2) inch plank laid lengthwise on girds and sufficient sleepers laid three (3) feet apart.

The negative ends of said temporary sidewalk shall be laid even with the sidewalk to which it is connected.

And there shall be a fence four (4) feet high on the side of walk next to the enclosure.

The Well-Meaning Woman

who sent alarm clocks to the African heathen to cure them of the "Sleeping Sickness", was not more illogical than she who expects to be cured of headaches, dizziness, nervousness and the long train of female derangements, while her stomach and liver are clogged and inactive.

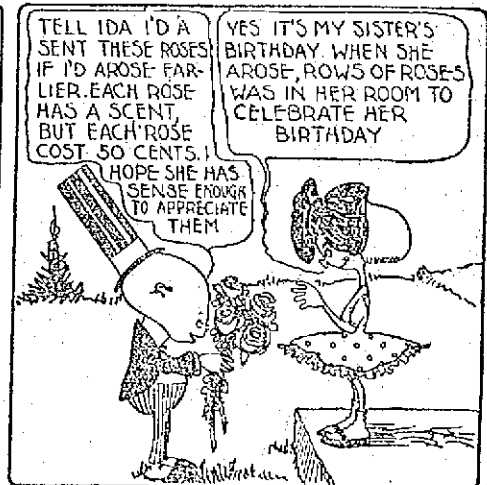

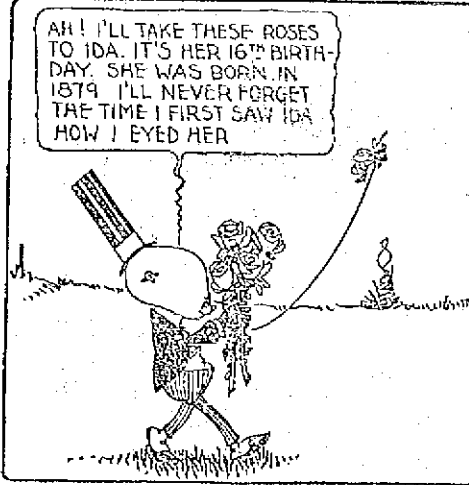

Such distressing complaints as insomnia, nervous debility, constipation, depression, etc., are usually the result of indigestion. Life without good health is prolonged misery. Why should you suffer when an infallible remedy is right at hand? Beecham's Pills taken at the first sign of indigestion or out-of-sorts feeling, will avert further trouble, and the sufferer a safe and pleasant preparation, which for over sixty years has proved an infallible cure for all stomach and liver troubles. Beecham's Pills cleanse the system, strengthen the digestive organs, tone the nerves and thus lay the foundation to sound robust health. If you are run down and need to be braced up, don't hesitate, but try Beecham's Pills at once.

The effect is not a temporary stimulant but a permanent help and often a lasting cure. Their splendid effects are not accidental, but the result of the valuable combination of vegetable extracts carefully prepared. They act gently but surely. That's why women who know, always use

"THAT'S IDA'S BIRTHDAY AND I THOUGHT I'D TAKE SOME ROSES I HAD BOUGHT AND GIVE THEM TO HER AS A GIFT. (HOW SWEET THEY WERE WHEN THEY WERE SHIPPED)"

HER SISTER MET ME AT THE DOOR—TOLD ME SOME THINGS THAT MADE ME SORE SHE SAID SOME OTHER FELLOWS HAD BROUGHT ROSES, TOO, AND I WAS FIRED.

SO I MET IDA WITH A FROWN. I EYED HER UP AND FIDDERDOWN. ALTHOUGH SHE LOOKED REAL SWEET AND PERT I COULDN'T STAND THAT PANNIER SKIRT.

I TRIED TO CLASP HER ROUND HER WAIST—THAT HARDEST JOB I EVER FACED—IT WAS A WASTE OF TIME I SAY. HER PANNIER SKIRT WAS IN THE WAY.

WHAT FASHIONABLE WOMEN ARE WEARING

Its full value. A fitted undershirt now appearing from beneath a peplum shaped drooping represents one of the prettiest and most attractive expedients in the making of a new gown.

Even in the case of eponge cloth the rough surfaced material is dull, soft shades of clay color or safe as it can be made with kilts. This eponge, or eponge cloth, as the French call the new fabric with a bath towel surface, is rivaling silk in popularity for gowns and trappings.

Fringe as a trimming for the gown popular has this become that on a charming gown of green eponge crystal beads were introduced in rows to give the effect of buttons. Horn buttons on tweed and serge costumes are just as much in vogue as ever, and a newer scheme is represented by those which are carried out in plated strings with rough knots on the surface.

The costumes seen in the illustration, while not extreme, are very modish and smart and are what women of refined taste who follow the mode at a fashionable distance are wearing this

SUIT WITH CLOSE FITTING LINES. SUIT WITH BUTTON TRIMMING.

COSTUME OF PERSIAN FOULARD.

In the wardrobe, a cloth trotting model and a silk affair for special occasions. Taffeta is not an expensive silk, but only a good quality can stand constant wear. The new silks look for all the world as if they had come out of the color print of the mid-Victorian days. There are quaint stripes and checks and mixtures of tones such as one might encounter when turning over a number of the ample skirted, frilled and flounced frocks worn by our grandmothers. A very attractive revival is that of the killed undershirt, the over-skirt being cut away in front to give it of eponge and silk is a favorite, and when used with eponge it makes the fabric look more like a bath towel than ever, but wool lace that is equally used as a decoration for these gowns is more in keeping with the rather rough nature of the material.

A costume of eponge as well as of hopsacking and serge never looks so well as when it is perfectly plain and undecorated, and this year many of the best looking of these suits have only button trimmings. Little sets of buttons, about five in a group, are often introduced on the skirt seams of a cloth costume, while bigger buttons play their part on the coat. The most popular of these is mother-of-pearl, and when a unique creation is being treated these white pearl buttons are often rimmed with black.

Another great favorite is the glass button cut in glittering facets, and so spring. The little coat of dark blue silk serge pictured suggests the close lines that are predicted in coat suits for next fall. The close fitting everskirt effect on the skirt is also very good, and the beauty of the model is enhanced by hand braided panels. An eponge collar of a pale putty color relieves the somberness of the jacket.

The vogue for buttons is shown in the treatment of small satin covered buttons applied in two rows from the knee to skirt hem on one of the suits illustrated.

A Persian patterned fouldard suit in shades of dull blue, bluish pink and soft gray is one of the daintiest things sent over recently from a French dressmaker who may always be counted upon to turn out something different from everything else, but conforming perfectly with the accepted fashionable lines of the season. CATHERINE TALBOT.

SATIN MODEL, IRISH LACE TRIMMINGS.

THE smartest materials for spring costumes this season are eponge cloth, hopsacking and serge, with taffeta and bengaline silk for dressy toilets. The girl who has difficulty in bringing two ends to a meeting point has probably

Table Napery For the Summer Cottage

DOILIES IN EYELET DESIGN AND LINEN CHEST.

FOR the bungalow or summer cottage the shops are showing linen cloths and napkins to carry out the color scheme of the decoration with colored floral borders. Bold reds, greens, blues—in fact, any color to carry out the color scheme of the decoration is used. The linen chest shown in the appended illustration is of solid walnut, with little lavender pads in each of its three drawers.

Modes For Young Girls

THE patent leather belt, not more than an inch in width and both in white and in black, is playing a conspicuous part in the modes for girls. On linen and serge it is worn nlike and it gives a very trim finish. It is seldom pulled in closely to the figure, but rather is so loose as in the old "Buster Brown" styles.

A smart little gray linen frock has a straight, square cut overblouse that is not sewed to the body of the dress at any point. It hangs down to the hips, front and back, and is entirely open at the sides, and it is held in place by means of a white patent leather belt, which is caught under a slide at each side of the waist on the frock underneath. The linen is embroidered in white and the short tunic is hemstitched and finished at the throat with scalloping in white.

A frock in pink linen for a smaller girl has an extra long fichu of embroidered white batiste which reaches almost to the hem of the dress and has silks at the waist line through which a girde of black velvet ribbon appears to be tied in a bow.

Little, turned down collars of soft white batiste finish the necks of many of the colored frocks of summer styles for girls in their teens.

Young girls are affecting huge necklaces of thick beads, half an inch or so long, in yellow, blue or other shades. These necklaces hang almost to the waist line.

The smartest gloves for a young girl's wear are white glove with heavy black silk stitching in triple rows on the backs. Even elbow gloves show the black stitching, though not so thick.

New Umbrella Case

A novel umbrella case has just been brought out and promises to meet with favor, especially for traveling. It is built on very slim lines and the tightly rolled fabric fits smoothly into a silken covering, which fastens all the way from top to bottom with black snapers. This arrangement facilitates getting at one's umbrella when in a hurry, and the new case looks much neater than the other kind, which usually bulges.

MUSINGS OF ELINOR HITE

Skipping For Beauty.

"YOU will never guess what I have been doing every morning for the last week," said a girl to me recently. "I've been going into a corner of the garden and—skipping."

"Skipping?" I exclaimed. "For goodness' sake, what for?"

"Well, I'll tell you. My doctor ordered it. I was feeling so rundown, and my skin was really in an awful state. Besides, you know, between you and me, I was getting stouter every day, and it worried me horribly."

Knowing that there are other girls who dread becoming stout, I will pass along the skipping instructions followed out so successfully by the patient who told me.

Like all other exercises calculated to do any permanent good, skipping must be done regularly. It will not do to spend ten minutes skipping one morning, then omit the exercise for several days. All the good in the world will be done if ten minutes of the exercise are taken about the same time each day.

Get a rope of ordinary clothesline thickness and long enough to let the arms be stretched out while you skip, with head as erect as possible.

Begin with the rope at your heels, bringing it over your head so that your arms bend easily, just as you see schoolgirls skipping in the street.

Next place the rope at your toes and bring it up over your head and so on round and round. This is called skipping backward and is a greater strain on the muscles than the first movement. It also brings certain muscles into play that are not developed in the other play.

Stretch out your arms stiff and use as far as possible only the hands and wrists in turning the rope. This movement has a marvelous effect in beautifying the shape of the hands, wrists and arms.

One thing the skipping girl was very anxious to impress upon me was that the skipper should always skip on her toes and never allow her heels to touch the ground.

The doctor's orders, too, were to acquire a "springy" step as possible. Vibration of the muscles, it seems, is obtained in this way.

Another hint she gave me was always to take an intermediate step between each turn of the rope.

Children do it, but grownup people when they skip usually omit this little extra step and therefore lose half the benefit of the exercise.

Of course skipping outdoors does most good, but when this is impossible the exercise may be taken in some room indoors where pictures and ornaments will not suffer from the beauty cure.

A Rival of Taffeta

IT was predicted that taffeta would have formidable rivals in the field of fashion, and already this has proved true, especially in the realms of tailoring.

There is a shot bengaline that looks extremely well and has the merit of being just a trifle warmer than taffeta, although there is a certain costly variety of the latter, really only exploited by the dressmakers who can command a price, that has quite a weighty feel and looks as if it would wear forever, perhaps a doubtful quality in these days.

A REALLY NEW IDEA IN BAGS

THERE is a really new bag come into existence, and when one sees it for the first time one wonders that it was not thought of long ago. It is balloon shaped when carried over the arm and flat when it is placed on a flat surface. The bag has a round cardboard bottom, with the linen or other material of which it is made gathered over an embroidery ring at the middle and again at the top. These rings, by the way, are put in with casings that are hemmed to the outside material. Another round piece of cardboard covered with the same material and tied with cords at one side and fastened with button and loops at the other makes a cover. There are long cord handles fastened at the sides of the top. The embroidery ring used in the middle is two sizes at least larger than the one at the top, and the one at the top is a size larger than the bottom one. This makes the bag pretty full at top and bottom and provides ample room for ordinary needlework or for small pieces of soiled linen.

IT'S VERY NATTY

OUTING HAT OF BLUE STRAW.

THE becoming little outing hat pictured is of navy blue tinsel straw. It is simplicity itself, being trimmed with a ghay bow of blue velvet and a navy blue silkup.

The Folding Nursery

THAT is exactly what it is—a whole nursery within the compact space of a child's crib, made from white enameled iron with a swinging bed, so placed within its frame that it may be pushed under an ordinary bed out of the way in daytime and in such juxtaposition to the mother during the night that she need not move from her rest in order to care for her little one. This new nursery is easily moved from place to place and when used in summer there is a heavy netting which insures perfect comfort for the child. Every part of the bed and the bedding is sanitary, and there is a sanitary box attached to the side of the bed to hold all food receptacles.

Life itself brings philosophy to bear the big sorrows. But somehow years of experience seems to give us the courage to bear bravely the little pangs of every day's sordid experience.

Copies of Antique Pearl Jewelry

WEAR YOUR SEED PEARL JEWELRY AGAIN.

GET out your seed pearls that have been tucked away for years, for this once popular jewelry is in vogue again and is appearing in delightful forms.

While the new designs are copies of the old French pieces, they never have the association of antiques, so dealers in seed pearl jewelry are making a specialty of remodeling and repairing the old brooches, bracelets and necklaces handed down from an earlier generation.

If your jewel box reveals no treasures some of the modern effects are lovely. Brooches—oval, round and star shaped—are the size of an old fashioned watch or slightly smaller, and as a concession to modern tastes there are fascinating bar pins of various lengths, formed of connecting rings of the seed pearls, some with round cluster brooches in the center.

Larghetto and watch chains of double or triple rows of pearls are studded at intervals with oval or round clusters. Two band bracelets have recently been made into a necklace, the joining being concealed by a fringe of the pearls with small drops.

Remarkably quaint, too, are the long earrings of seed pearls. These are rather trying, however, to women who are not blessed with good complexions and regular features.

IT'S RHUBARB SEASON

IN the spring it is well for the housewife to serve in her daily menu acid fruits and vegetables that act as spring cleansers to the system. One of the most palatable of these fruits is rhubarb, which now is so plentiful. The following ways of serving this plant are somewhat different from the average recipes.

Rhubarb Charlotte.—Cut into small pieces enough rhubarb to measure one quart. Melt one-third of a cup of butter and pour over it one quart of crumbs from the center of a stale loaf of bread and stir until well mixed. Butter a baking dish and fill with alternate layers of crumbs, rhubarb and sugar. Add a slight grating of nutmeg, dot with bits of butter, cover and bake about three-quarters of an hour.

Rhubarb Pie.—If you have fresh young stalks of rhubarb use it for the pie with the skin on, but if it is tough or old be sure to remove the skin. Cut the rhubarb into pieces about half an inch long and after carefully washing the stalks sprinkle over them some sugar and place them in a deep pie plate lined with flaky pie crust which has been slightly dusted with flour. To a quart of the rhubarb cut up as directed add one large cup of sugar. Place the rhubarb thus sweetened in the pie at least an inch deep and then sprinkle with flour and a tablespoonful of salt and flavor with a dash of nutmeg if this flavoring is liked. Put on the top crust and pinch together. No water should be put in the pie, as the rhubarb is very juicy and furnishes all the moisture necessary.

Rhubarb Cup.—Take about five large stalks of rhubarb, peel them, cut in pieces and cook in a double boiler without water. Sweeten the rhubarb well when it is done, then have ready one-quarter of a cup of rice that has been boiled in one cup of water until soft and dry. Mix the rhubarb and rice well together, beating the mixture thoroughly. Mold in cups that have been slightly buttered and set on ice. Just before serving turn them out on a large dish and pour around them a soft custard.

Seasonable Window Curtains

FEW people show originality about the arrangement of their window curtains, but now is the time to furnish up one's ideas and hang fresh curtains for summer in place of those that have been hanging all winter.

Plain white muslin or lace window curtains are far too common, and they do not suit every room. Often a tremendous difference in the appearance of the room would be made by a different treatment, including a touch of the right color in curtains.

Wash silk is an excellent material. It does not hold the dust and consequently keeps clean longer than cotton fabrics. It launders well and does not look dragged and limp in damp weather. The cost is very little more than for ordinary muslin or fancy scrim, and "jap" silk can now be obtained in lovely coloring.

The palest pink, blue or lilac may be chosen with good effect for a plain papered room, and yellow curtains in a dark room increase the sunshine.

With a set of striped wall paper in pale colors the curtains might be of silk with a tiny old world pattern of pink rosebuds or wee blue and mauve flowers. This looks quaint, pretty and distinctive, but remember it is quite unsuitable for a room with floral paper.

For the last named, inner curtains of white or cream silk look best, accompanied by long curtains to harmonize with the predominating shade in the paper. The color of the carpet or rugs must also be taken into consideration, as a mistake here often spoils the effect of an otherwise charming room.

Where money is limited a heavy make of plain casement cloth is both artistic and serviceable for the outer curtains.

Green is not always a wise choice, although it harmonizes well with almost every color scheme, because it quickly fades to a dull sage brown that is anything but desirable.

Blue green or blue gray answers better, and rose color or crimson is cheerful as well as useful, while a bright shade of golden brown can hardly be beaten for artistic effect and good wearing qualities.
